PART I.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.

APPEAL No. 79 OF 1908-09.

Appellant	Versus	Respondents
Mr. S. Shamanna, Advocate, Bangalore.		1. Nanjachari. 2. Anantachar. 3. Cheluva Pillai. 4. B. G. Ramaswamaiengar. 5. Kesavaiengar.

Subject.

Appeal against the order of the Deputy Commissioner, Shimoga District, confirming the sales held for arrears of revenue of 26 survey numbers of Sulekere village, Channagiri Taluk, in the khata of Mr. K. Shamaiengar, retired Khedda Superintendent.

Facts of the case.

Arrears of kandayam amounting to Rs. 1,570-0-3 having become due from Mr. K. Shamaiengar in respect of his khata lands in Sulekere village, Channagiri Taluk, coercive measures were taken and after the necessary preliminaries all the lands included in the khata 326 acres in extent with an assessment of over Rs. 1,000 and supposed to be of the value of only Rs. 777 were brought to sale. On the 18th August 1906, i.e., a few days before the date fixed for the sale, the khatedar presented petitions both to the Deputy Commissioner and the Assistant Commissioner praying for time to pay the arrears till the end of November 1906. In the meantime and before final orders were issued in the matter the sale was held by the Amildar on the 25th and 27th August 1906 and the lands noted in the margin (total extent 202 acres and 32 guntas) were sold for Rs. 1,531 in the aggregate. The Amildar in his report dated the 17th September 1906 stated that though a registered yadi No. 252 was issued to the mortgagee (appellant) on the 15th August 1906, informing him of the sale, the arrears due were not paid and recommended the confirmation of the sale. As, in the meantime, orders had been passed by the Deputy Commissioner granting time to the khatedar for payment of the arrears till the end of November 1906, the Assistant Commissioner returned the sale records to the Amildar with a direction to wait till the period allowed for payment had expired. As the arrears however were not paid within the specified period and as the khatedar who was called upon on the 18th January 1907 to show cause why the sales should not be confirmed replied on the 5th February 1907 that Government may pass such orders as they deemed fit, the Deputy Commissioner confirmed the sales in question on the 23rd March 1907.

Name of purchaser.	Survey numbers sold.
Nanjachari ...	... 193 and 170.
Anantachar ...	... 19, 88, 161, 91, 87 and 92.
Cheluva Pillai ...	... 65.
B. G. Ramaswamaiengar	... 20, 10, 11, 70, 91, 23, 125, 126, 192 and 124.
Kesavaiengar ...	... 169, 85, 93, 95, 191, 147 and 73.

2. The appellant who is the mortgagee of the said lands presented a petition to Government on the 9th December 1907 complaining in general terms that some lands of the Sulekere estate, he recently learnt, had been sold and that some more were about to be sold and that no notice was given to him of the sale proceedings and praying for cancellation and stay of the sales. The above petition was forwarded to the Revenue Commissioner for report. On the 26th February 1908, the appellant presented an appeal to the Revenue Commissioner against the Deputy Commissioner's order confirming the sales now in question, but the said appeal has come up for disposal by Government, the case having been withdrawn from the Revenue Commissioner's file under Section 210A of the Mysore Land Revenue Code.

3. The appeal came on for final hearing on the 23rd July 1909, when both parties were present and were heard.

Land Revenue, dated 6th September 1909.

Decision.

Government are not inclined to condone the delay in the filing of this appeal. The sales were held by the Amildar on the 25th and 27th of August 1906. The Amildar says in his report dated the 17th September 1906 that a registered notice of the fact was sent to the mortgagee (appellant) but the latter denies it and there is no other proof of such notice being sent. That statement may or may not be true but legally no such notice was necessary.

2. The appellant had not registered his claim in the special register in the taluk. It may be true—indeed Government are inclined to believe it—that the taluk officers knew of the mortgage. But their failure to send a notice was probably due to the fact that the khatedar (and mortgager) was actually in possession and he (khatedar) was shown all facilities to enable him to discharge the claim even after the sales. The sales which were held in August 1906 were not confirmed till March 1907 and the khatedar was asked before the confirmation whether he had anything to urge against it and stated that such orders as seemed proper might be passed.

3. The appellant's first petition to Government was not an appeal against this order of confirmation and was a complaint in general terms about various sales held. Even that was presented more than eight months after the date of confirmation, i.e., on the 9th December 1907. The real petition of appeal to the Revenue Commissioner is dated the 26th February 1908. The appellant, whatever the terms of the contract of mortgage may have been, left the lands in the possession and management of the mortgager who must, therefore, be taken to be his agent. Even though a notice to him was legally necessary the condition would be satisfied by the service thereof on the mortgager in possession. Moreover, it is impossible to believe that for about 18 months the appellant would be ignorant of the sales. If he were entitled to possession of the lands (as according to his allegation he was) he was bound to inquire how the demands of Government had been satisfied and if he had made enquiries he would have known much earlier that the lands had been sold.

4. It is quite possible that the khatedar deliberately brought about the sales and made purchases for himself in the names of others and that if the appeal was presented in time Government would have found sufficient reasons to cancel the sales. But it is probable that the appellant is not without remedy in the Civil Courts. This appeal being barred by lapse of time is hereby dismissed.

No. R. 2038-46—L. R. 512-08-2, DATED BANGALORE, 6TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

Copies of the above decision are forwarded (1) to the Deputy Commissioner, Shimoga District, together with the records of the case received with his letters Nos. 485, dated the 21st December 1908, and 340, dated 30th October 1908, addressed to the Revenue Commissioner, (2) to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore and (3) to the Deputy Commissioners of other districts for information.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.

APPEAL No. 122 OF 1908-09.

Appellant	vs.	Respondents
Rayappa, son of Ramappa, residing at Yedahalli.		(1) Hosakere Subbasastri, living at Yedahalli. (2) Kuduvali Sitharama Rao, Pleader, Chiknagalur.

Subject.

Appeal against the order of the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, declining to cancel the revenue sale of Survey Nos. 66, 79 and 81 of the Mensur village in the Yedahalli Sub-Taluk.

Facts of the case.

An assessment of Rs. 45-15-3 having fallen due for the year 1905-06 on the marginally noted survey numbers of Mensur village in the Yedahalli Sub-Taluk, a demand notice was issued and served on the khatedar, Ramappa, the father of the appellant, on 14th March 1906. The arrears not having been paid, all the lands were forfeited. The sale notification was also served on the khatedar. The lands were sold by the shekdar on the 20th of July 1906 with the result that the marginally noted individuals purchased the same for Rs. 50 8-0. It has been reported that the respondents were the mortgagees of the lands they purchased.

The Sub-Division Officer confirmed, on 13th September 1906, the sale of all the survey numbers excepting No. 81, which he considered it desirable to reserve to Government in the interests of the residents of Yedahalli, as the land contained a descending well at easy distance from the town.

The appellant appealed to the Deputy Commissioner and requested that the Assistant Commissioner's order so far as it related to the confirmation of Survey Nos. 66, 79 and 81 might be set aside. The Deputy Commissioner rejected the appeal on 10th August 1907.

Against this order, he preferred an appeal to the Revenue Commissioner who held that, the khatedar not having questioned the sale, the appellant who is his son, had no locus standi to object to it. Moreover he was of opinion that, the lands having been purchased by the hypothecatees, there could be no pecuniary loss to the appellant. Accordingly he dismissed the appeal.

The appellant has now come before Government to have the sales set aside. He urges that his father is too old to take any action in the matter and as he is virtually the manager of the family he has been taking these steps to save the property. He further states that as a purchaser in a revenue sale gets the property absolutely freed from all encumbrances and as the respondents who are his hypothecatees have purchased the lands in the revenue sale, he will not be relieved from his personal liability for payment of the amount due under the mortgage. He adds that the lands have been grossly underestimated purposely so as to bring the sale within the jurisdiction of the shekdar. In support of his allegation he has produced with the appeal petition a copy of a registered sale deed to show that the first respondent sold Survey Nos. 66 and 79 for Rs. 200 immediately after he became their purchaser, and states that Survey No. 81 is a bagayet containing a descending well substantially revetted throughout with stone slabs.

The appeal came on for hearing on the 20th of August 1909, when Mr. N. V. Narasimhaiengar, B.A., B.L., was heard for the appellant and Mr. K. Ramaswami Iyengar, B.A., B.L., for the 1st respondent. The 2nd respondent was present in person.

Order.

There seems to be no doubt that the lands have been grossly undervalued and the property sold for very low prices.

The appellant being interested in the property may apply to set aside the sale under Section 184 of the Land Revenue Code.

The order of the Revenue Commissioner will be reversed and the sales in dispute set aside.

BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.

APPEAL NOS. 99—99A OF 1908-09.

	Appellant	vs.	Respondent
Appeal No. 99.	Honnekere Mahadevaiya.		Nadig Bairappa.
„ 99A.	Punjanur Nadig Virappa.		Do

Subject.

Appeal against the order of the Deputy Commissioner, Chitaldrug District declining to cancel the resales of Survey Nos. 171 and 172 of the Holalkere village.

One Gopalaiya, shanbhog of Kasba Holalkere, applied for Survey Nos. 171 and 172 of the Holalkere village. These numbers were reported to contain many date trees which were estimated at Rs. 72-10-0 and Rs. 163-8-0 respectively. They were sold by auction. Mahadevappa, the appellant in Appeal No. 99, purchased the Survey No. 171 for Rs. 25; while the other number was knocked down for Rs. 60 to Virappa, the appellant in Appeal No. 99A. Within ten days after the sales, the respondent applied to the Amildar for the cancellation of the sales, stating that the sales were not duly notified and that he was willing to purchase both the numbers for Rs. 150. The Amildar reported that the respondent's petition and offer were the outcome of his hatred towards his brother Virappa, the purchaser of Survey No. 172, and recommended that both the sales might be confirmed. But the Assistant Commissioner refused to confirm the sales on the ground that the amounts realized on the two numbers were less than half the malki amount. Accordingly he directed that a resale be held, the respondent's offer being taken as the first bid.

The Amildar conducted the sales at which both the appellants were present. The respondent purchased Survey Nos. 171 and 172 for Rs. 50 and Rs. 280, respectively. The resales were duly confirmed by the Assistant Commissioner on 16th May 1908.

The appellants appealed to the Deputy Commissioner, Chitaldrug District, who dismissed the appeal on the ground that the notification of the first sale was not duly published and that the Assistant Commissioner rightly refused to confirm it as the amount realized at the sale was too low as compared with the estimated malki amount.

Against this order both the appellants appealed to the Revenue Commissioner. The appeals having been withdrawn under Section 210A of the Land Revenue Code came for hearing before Government on 10th August 1909, when Mr. D. Venkataramaiya, B.A., was heard for the appellants. The respondent was present in person.

Decision.

The sales in which the appellants became the highest bidders were not confirmed, though the Amildar recommended their confirmation. The resales were therefore quite legal and there are no grounds for interference. The appeals are therefore dismissed.

BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.

APPEAL No. 82 OF 1908-09.

Appellant	vs.	Respondent
Gowramma, widow of Bullengowda, residing at Urthal in the Molakalmuru Taluk		Rudregowda, residing at the same village.

Subject.

Appeal against the order of the Deputy Commissioner, Chitaldrug District, registering the pateli of the Urthal village in the name of the respondent.

Facts of the case.

The parties to this appeal are related to each other as shown in the genealogical table below:—

Varasappa.

Doddaverappa	Chikveerappa
Bullenna	Basappa
Basavangowda	Rudregowda (Respondent).
Bullengowda, the late registerdar patel and husband of Gowramma, (the Appellant).

The appellant's father-in-law and the respondent were joint patels till 1873, discharging the duties of the office by turns. In that year the Deputy Commissioner appointed the former as the sole patel of the village. In 1888, the respondent Rudregowda filed a suit against Basavangowda before the Deputy Commissioner, Chitaldrug District, to oust the latter from office. But the then Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Mahomed Ali, Khan Bahadur, dismissed the suit on the 16th May 1888, on the ground that the appellant's father-in-law, who had been in office from 1873, having been appointed thereto by a competent officer after regular enquiry, could not be dispossessed at the instance of the respondent. But at the same time it was observed that the latter was no doubt a hakdar to the pateli office whose claims might be taken into consideration when the office fell vacant.

During the lifetime of the appellant's father-in-law, Bullengowda, the husband of the appellant, had been discharging the duties as gumasta for his father, and on the latter's death in 1906, the pateli was registered in the name of his son.

The appellant's husband having died on the 26th of October 1907, without any sons, the respondent claimed the office on the ground that his right thereto had been declared in the suit filed by him in 1888, and that he was the only surviving male member left to represent the deceased's family. The appellant also urged her claims for the registry of the office in her name, as being the widow of the late barawarddar. The Sub-Division Officer, Mr. Dharmaraja Chetty, considering that the respondent was estopped from setting up any right which he might have had under the decree of 1888 by acquiescing in the appointment of the appellant's husband, held that the respondent could only succeed as the heir of the deceased. He further found that the appellant was entitled to some consideration on account of her being left widowed, without any means of livelihood, at a tender age, with three little daughters to maintain; and accordingly directed on 16th December 1907 that the pateli should be registered in the appellant's name and that the respondent should get the office after her death; but that, in the meanwhile, he should be permitted to do the duties as her gumasta, paying half the potgi to the appellant for her maintenance.

Land Revenue, dated 16th September 1909.

Against this order the respondent preferred an appeal to the Deputy Commissioner. The latter thought that this was not a case in which a sonless widow should be preferred to a male member of the family whose name had been borne in the Barabaluti register of 1865, who had been actually doing the pateli duties, though jointly, till 1873, and whose right to succeed to the office had been, in a way, declared in the decree of 1888. The Deputy Commissioner, therefore, set aside the order of the Sub-Division Officer and directed that the pateli be registered in the name of the respondent.

Against this order the appellant preferred an appeal to the Revenue Commissioner, which was withdrawn under Section 210 A of the Mysore Land Revenue Code. The appeal came for final hearing before Government on 20th July 1909 when Mr. H. Krishnappa, B.A., was heard for the appellant and Mr. S. Rangaiya, B.A., B.L., for the respondent.

Order.

In a suit instituted by the present respondent to oust the father-in-law of the appellant in 1888, the Deputy Commissioner decided that the claim was unfounded and rejected the claim; though he went somewhat out of the way and added that the respondent was also a hakdar and that his claims might be taken into consideration when the office would fall vacant. The respondent appealed to Government and was informed that it was not a case in which Government would interfere to oust the appellant's father-in-law but that "the rule of rotation shortly to be introduced would apply." Such a rule was, however, never introduced, and the question is whether, after the death of the appellant's husband, the respondent is better entitled to the pateli office than the appellant.

Neither the decision of the Deputy Commissioner nor that of the Government can be regarded as establishing the right of the respondent (whose claim was rejected) to the office as hakdar. When Basavegowda died, his son, the appellant's husband, succeeded and the claim of the respondent was not recognized. The Deputy Commissioner bases his decision on the old orders and on the view that the respondent is a better heir than a sonless widow. The former ground is shown to be untenable as the respondent's claim was to oust the appellant's father-in-law, and not to get his title as hakdar declared. The right of a widow to succeed to her husband had been recognised in many cases, and it cannot now be summarily set aside, as this case was one in which the previous office-holder died before the Village Officer's Regulation came into operation.

The Deputy Commissioner's order appointing the respondent will, therefore, be set aside. The Assistant Commissioner's direction that the respondent should be gumasta and pay half the potgi to the widow is also incorrect, the latter part of it being opposed both to public policy and to the express orders of Government. The office will be registered in the widow's name and she will be directed to nominate a proper gumasta within a time to be fixed by the Deputy Commissioner. If she fails to do so, the Deputy Commissioner may appoint a proper gumasta himself from time to time.

Government Proceedings No. R. 2294-305—L. R. 1-97-13, dated 14th September 1904, directing the relaxation of the rule requiring the reservation of a margin of 50 yards on either side of jungle streams and around springs, in the case of lands granted for cardamom cultivation.

No. R. 2463-75—L. R. 41-09-5, DATED BANGALORE, 21ST SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—Opinion seems to be divided as to the deteriorating effect of cardamom and coffee cultivation on water-supply. It is, however, apprehended that the relaxation of the rule enjoining the preservation of a margin of 50 yards, recently made in the case of the former, may lead in course of time to great extension of such cultivation, especially near ravines and water-courses and thus have injurious though remote and indirect effects on the head-waters of streams.

2. With a view to prevent all possibility of any injurious consequences to the water-supply of rivers by the concession, Government direct that within the evergreen belt on the eastern slopes of the ghats, no land can be given out for cardamom cultivation without the previous sanction of Government. Such sanction will not be given unless the Conservator of Forests is of opinion that permission can be given to cultivate the land applied for without affecting the springs of the particular ravine.

3. As regards coffee lands, the Conservator of Forests states that according to his own experience and observation there is no necessity to enforce rigidly the fifty yards rule as the conditions under which coffee is grown in the State will produce the same results as are intended to be secured by a rigid observance of the rule. Coffee requires the dense shade of ever-geen trees and the soil has to be kept thoroughly tilled or under mulch, both of which are, in his opinion, very effective in preventing erosion and checking evaporation. He considers, therefore, that the rule is a source of unnecessary hardship to coffee planters and suggests that the margin to be kept on either side may be reduced to 25 yards, within which coffee trees are not likely to be planted as it will not be above flood level and it is desirable to preserve the wooded fringe along the banks.

4. Government, however, are not in favor of reducing the margin. Lands now available for coffee cultivation are few and the exact effects produced by the clearing of ravines on water-supply of rivers have not as yet been fully investigated. Government therefore direct that the rule be strictly adhered to in all cases.

READ—

Letter No. 5144, dated the 3rd July 1909, from the Chief Engineer of Mysore, forwarding copies of correspondence between him and the Deputy Commissioner, Mysore District, and also the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore as to the applicability or otherwise of the rule laid down in para XI of Government Order No. R. 5251-61—Agri. 626-03-6, dated 15th December 1904, restricting the liability of raiyats for cumulative neglect of annual maintenance of tanks to one year's assessment on the atchkat of the tank, to minor tanks restored under the minor tanks restoration scheme, and requesting a definite ruling on the subject.

No. R. 2482-91—L. R. 21-09-2, DATED BANGALORE, 21ST SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—The Chief Engineer is of opinion that as the restoration of major tanks is carried out entirely at Government cost, there is some reason in Government limiting the raiyats' liability to one year's assessment under the tank for their cumulative neglect to carry out the maintenance work but that in the case of restoration of minor tanks, the entire work (viz., "earthwork and turfing") to the bund is carried out by the raiyats themselves and that, therefore, the maintenance work in connection therewith should also be done by them without expecting any help from Government in case of cumulative neglect of maintenance work.

2. Government, however, concur in the view taken by the Revenue Commissioner that since the Tank Maintenance Rules issued with the Government Proceedings of December 1904, make no distinction between major and minor tanks restored and handed over to the Revenue Department for upkeep, the concession of limiting the raiyats' liability in case of cumulative neglect of maintenance work to one year's assessment, allowed by Rule XI referred to above, cannot be held to apply only to major tanks, and that both major and minor tanks are therefore intended to be treated alike in this respect. If timely steps are taken by the officers of the Revenue Department to enforce the rules regarding the maintenance of tanks as soon as signs of neglect are apparent, instances of cumulative neglect will be minimized.

3. It may also be pointed out that there is not much essential difference in the principles upon which the restoration of major and minor tanks is promoted by Government with the exception that contribution in money is expected directly in the case of the former from the raiyats while in the case of the latter it is made in the shape of labour by the raiyats doing the entire earthwork themselves.

READ—

The following letter No. 18, dated the 11th August 1909, from the Superintendent of Inam Settlements in Mysore:—

"I have the honor to submit herewith the Annual Administration Report of the Inam Department for the year 1908-09.

Changes in the office staff.

2. The Department, till the beginning of the year under report, consisted of five clerks with one head clerk. During the year, the post of a clerk on Rs. 40 a month having fallen vacant, it was broken up into two on Rs. 20 each, thus raising the number of clerks from five to six. The two temporary clerks on Rs. 15 each a month were also brought on the permanent scale as per Government Order No. R. 2237-8—L. R. 535-06-3, dated 7th October 1908.

Cases during the year.

3. During the year under report, two land inams comprising an extent of 3 kologas 2 padis and 9 acres 17 guntas, assessed at Rs. 32-4-0, were newly confirmed, upon which a jodi of Rs. 4-2-0 was fixed.

Eleven cases were struck off and resumed, by which Rs. 682-8-0 were lost to Government towards inam revenue, while there was a corresponding increase of Rs. 2,002-12-0 under assessment.

Revision of inams.

4. One whole village and three other minor inams were revised. In this connection the combined quit-rent was reduced by Rs. 126.

Registers.

5. The number of quit-rent registers prepared was 8 for confirmed cases and 44 for resumed and struck-off cases, in all 52. In addition to this, 16 correction statements and 204 supplemental quit-rent registers were revised and issued during the year.

Extracts and title-deeds.

6. The number of ad interim extracts and title-deeds prepared was 2.

Final title-deeds for minor inams.

7. Out of 9,400 title-deeds for minor inams in Sirkar villages that remained to be prepared at the beginning of the year under report, 1,150 belonging to the taluks of Srinivaspur, Chintamani, Yedatore and Nanjangud were prepared and compared. But those of Yedatore and Nanjangud were despatched for delivery to the inamdars. The remainder, viz., 1,060 of Srinivaspur and Chintamani Taluks, will be despatched when the whole taluks, are completed.

Revised final quit-rent registers.

8. The revised final quit-rent registers of Mulbagal, Devanhalli, Kankanhalli and Honnali (supplemental) Taluks were corrected, compared and despatched to the Secretariat and other offices. The work of comparing one register with the original tarav patrik and other inam records is so laborious that it can only be done at a slow pace, as it entails great labour and correspondence with taluks. Afterwards, the other nineteen copies of the same have to be compared and corrected before despatch. The taluks despatched during the year under report are all large taluks containing in all 4,327 inam cases. There still remain the quit-rent registers of Sidlaghatta, Srinivaspur, Nanjangud, T.-Narsipur, Magadi, Chintamani and Malur to be compared, corrected and despatched. That of Kolar is on hand.

The quit-rent register of the Bowringpet Taluk is under preparation for despatch to the Press.

Inam Revenue.

9. The Inam revenue was reduced by Rs. 804-6-0 during the year under report, as shown below, while the corresponding revenue under land assessment was increased by Rs. 2,002-12-0 :—

				Rs.	a.	p.
Quit-rent imposed on confirmed inams ...			...	4	2	0
Deduct on account of resumed and struck-off cases	..	682 8 0
Do revision	...	126 0 0		808	8	0
Balance decrease			...	804	6	0

Expenditure.

10. The total cost of the Department was Rs. 5,090-7-7 as against Rs. 4,531-1-8 exclusive of Rs. 199 deducted from the pay bills on account of Life Insurance Premium, in the year previous. The increase is owing to the grain compensation allowance that was given during the year and also to other fluctuating causes.

Land Revenue, dated 27th September 1909.

Total cost of the Department.

11. The total cost of the Department from 1868 up to the end of the year under report, was Rs. 11,67,434-15-11 and the total annual recurring revenue, Rs. 2,74,528-9-0.

Correspondence.

12. The amount of correspondence both English and vernacular was 1,730 against 2,019 in the year previous. The decrease was due mainly to the correspondence with the Excise Commissioner and the District Officers in connection with requisitions for copies of inam registers having been stopped, the parties being directed to produce them on payment (vide Government Proceedings No. Fl. 1415-24—S. R. 6-08-4, dated 12th September 1908).

General remarks.

13. The increased outturn of work both in the preparation of minor inam title-deeds and the revised final quit-rent registers is mainly due to the small increase in the strength of the establishment sanctioned by Government, and I am glad to say that the establishment has worked hard and satisfactorily during the year under report."

No. R. 2713—L. R. 94-09-2, DATED BANGALORE, 27TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—Recorded.

2. The work now done in the Department is mostly the preparation of the revised final quit-rent registers and in this direction steady progress was made during the year, having regard to the laborious nature of the work.

3. There was a net increase of Rs. 1,194-4-0 under Land Revenue as the result of the operations of the Department during the year, owing to the resumption of certain inams.

BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.

APPEAL No. 123 OF 1908-09.

Appellant	Vs.	Respondent
Chandrasekharaiah of Sulekuppe kayamgutta village, Kunigal Taluk.		Seetharamiah.

Subject.

Appeal against the order of the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, holding that the respondent is the hakdar shanbhog of Sulekuppe village and that the potgi due to him should be paid by the kayamguttadar.

Facts of the Case.

On the 7th April 1897, one Seetharamiah submitted a petition to the Extra Assistant Commissioner, Tumkur District, that the Jodidar, Subramanya Sastri, had deprived him of his shanbhogi office although he was the hakdar shanbhog of the village. He further represented that his ancestors were the registered shanbhogs, that his brother Lingappiah was the shanbhog of the village in question from 1881 to 1887 and that the petitioner also looked after the shanbhogi duties from 1887 to 1894. The petition was forwarded to the Amildar of Kunigal Taluk for report. The Jodidar, in his statement before the Amildar on the 8th June 1897, denied that Seetharamiah was the registered shanbhog of the village and stated that he had appointed Chennappa to look after the affairs of the village. On the 12th September 1898 Seetharamiah presented another petition to the Deputy Commissioner. On the report of the Amildar that Seetharamiah appeared to be the hakdar shanbhog from the accounts produced by him and other evidence, the Deputy Commissioner directed that the kayamguttadar was not competent to remove a duly registered shanbhog from his office and that Seetharamiah should be restored to the shanbhogi office and the potgi due to him paid by the kayamguttadar.

Hence the Appeal.

The case having been withdrawn from the Revenue Commissioner's file under Section 210 A of the Mysore Land Revenue Code, came for hearing on the 20th August 1909, when the parties were present and heard.

Decision.

When the right of the respondent to the office as hereditary shanbhog is altogether denied by the Inamdar, Government consider the best course to be that the matter should be decided by a regular suit.

Government therefore set aside the Deputy Commissioner's order.

MEMO No. R. 2715-23—L. R. 520-08-2, DATED BANGALORE, 27TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

APPEAL No. 80 OF 1908-09.

Appellants	Vs.	Respondents
1. Puttavva. } Daughters of Rukmavva 2. Venkavva. }		Bheema Rao (minor) by guardian Gopal Rao.

Subject.

Appeal against the order of the Deputy Commissioner, Shimoga District, declining to interfere with the order of the Assistant Commissioner directing the registry of the shanbhogi and pateli barawards of Devasthanada hakkalu and the pateli baraward of Vrittikoppa village in the Anavatti hobli of the Sorab Taluk in the name of the minor respondent.

Facts of the case.

The genealogical tree appended shows the relationship of the parties. The shanbhogi and the pateli barawards in question were first in the name of Krishnappa, husband of Rukmavva, and after his death, in the name of his second son Venkata Rao; Krishnappa's eldest son Narasinga Rao having predeceased his father leaving a widow by name Gangavva. Venkata Rao died unmarried and the baraward was thereupon made in the name of his widowed mother Rukmavva. On the death of Rukmavva in December 1900 her widowed daughters, the appellants, her davadees Bheema Rao (respondent), Sreenivasa Rao, Gopal Rao, Swami Rao, Govinda Rao and Venkata Rao and Narasinga Rao's widow Gangavva all claimed the office. The Assistant Commissioner directed the registry of the office in the name of the minor respondent Bheema Rao and the appointment of his guardian Gopal Rao as gumasta of the minor. On appeal the Deputy Commissioner affirmed the Assistant Commissioner's order and hence the present appeal to Government, which was last heard on the 7th April 1906 but was remanded to the Deputy Commissioner for his finding on the factum and validity of the alleged adoption of one Hanumantha Rao by the second appellant Venkavva, which was denied by the respondent. The Deputy Commissioner now reports that from the evidence recorded he is of opinion that the adoption of Hanumantha Rao by the 2nd appellant took place on the 12th May 1903 and that it is valid.

2. The case came on for final hearing on the 20th August 1909, when one Bhishtappa on behalf of the appellants and Mr. L. Srinivas Iyengar, Advocate, on behalf of the minor respondent, were present and were heard.

Decision.

The last male holder was Rukmavva's son Venkata Rao and the appellants are his sisters. Even if the adoption is believed, the adopted son would be related to the deceased Venkata Rao as a sister's son. As neither a sister nor a sister's son can, according to Hindu Law, succeed as heir in preference to sagotra heirs like the respondent and others, the appellants cannot succeed. This appeal is therefore dismissed.

It is a mistake to suppose, that executive officers like Amildars and Assistant Commissioners in charge of Divisions can leave their jurisdictions during holidays like the Dasara holidays without the previous permission of the authorities competent to sanction leave of absence to them. Holidays only mean that the offices will be closed but they do not justify officers leaving their posts without the aforesaid permission. 1. Report on the proposed revision settlement of the Pavagada Taluk received with the Survey Superintendent's letter No. 89, dated the 19th March 1909:—

Letter No. 89—Enc. 9, dated Bangalore, 19th March 1909, from D. Shama Rao, Esq., Superintendent of Mysore Revenue Survey and Settlement, to the Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments.

I have the honor to forward herewith seven advance copies of Report No. 293, dated 17th November 1908, (with appendices and map) from the Deputy Superintendent Mr. K. Ramaswami Iyengar on the revision of assessment in 140 villages now constituting the Pavagada Taluk of the Tumkur District.

2. It is quite unnecessary for me to follow the Deputy Superintendent through all the details of his proposals, which I need scarcely observe were fully discussed between him and myself before being formulated and which therefore have my full concurrence.

3. As usual, copy of the report with its appendices and map was forwarded to the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, with my letter No. 489, dated 7th January 1909, for an expression of his opinion and his reply is awaited.

Similarly an advance copy of the report was also forwarded to the Revenue Commissioner with my letter No. 500, dated 11th January 1909.

Letter No. 293, dated 17th November 1908, from K. Ramaswami Iyengar, Esq., M.A., Deputy Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey, to D. Shama Rao, Esq., Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey.

I have the honor to submit proposals for the revision of assessment of 140 villages now constituting the whole of the Pavagada Taluk of the Tumkur District.

2. The original settlement was introduced into these villages along with nine others, in 1872, on the report of Colonel J. P. Grant (then Captain), late Survey and Settlement Commissioner, (his letter No. 161, dated 9th March 1872) and under the late Chief Commissioner's sanction conveyed in his letter No. 401—Rev. 22, dated Nandidrug, 25th April 1872.

Nine villages forming a spur in the north-west were transferred to the Challakere Taluk, when it was reconstituted in 1882. Revision Settlement was introduced into these nine villages along with the other villages of the Challakere Taluk under Government Order No. R. 4991-5001—L. S. 76-04-4, dated 25th October 1905.

3. Boundaries.—The Anantapur District of the Madras Presidency encircles nearly the whole of the taluk, excepting for about 5 miles in the north-west, where it is attached to the Challakere Taluk of the Chitaldrug District. The taluk is bounded on the north by the Kalyanadurg and Dharmavaram Taluks of the Anantapur District, west by Madaksira and Kalyanadurg Taluks of the same district and the Challakere Taluk of the Chitaldrug District, south by Madaksira Taluk, and east by Penukonda, Madaksira and Dharmavaram Taluks of the Anantapur District.

4. Position.—The taluk under report with an area of 532 square miles, is the most north-north-easterly projection of the Mysore State. It represents a very irregular and tortuous oblong, 20 miles north to south and 30 miles east to west. It would be fairly compact but for two spurs, one in the extreme north-east and the other in the south-east. The town of Pavagada is situated 14°-16′ N. Lat. 77°-21′ E. Long., 60 miles north-north-east of Tumkur on the Tumkur-Bellary road. Though not centrally situated, its proximity to trade routes, its general accessibility and population are in its favor.

5. Physical features.—The large number of hills covered with scant vegetatio forming part of the Tumkur-Pavagada-Molakalmuru granite range, and lying to th south, south-east, west and north of the region round about Pavagada, as also th range of hills between the north-east spur and the Dharmavaram Taluk, form th chief physical characteristics here. Kamandrug (3,537 feet), Nidgal (3,485 feet) and Husenpur (2,813 feet), are some of the important peaks. There are severa others ranging in height between 3,400 and 2,305 feet. Pavagada and Nidgal ar the prominent fortified hills in this taluk. The former is surrounded with six line of fortifications. The steep-sided cliffs with oblong-crested flat-topped peaks wer found from early times natural citadels and were therefore fortified as military posi tions in the old days of Nolamba kings and of Pallegars' rule. The Nidgal, Pavagada Magadalabetta and Hoskote fortresses may be mentioned as coming under the abov category. The formation of these hills mostly consisting of boulders of all sizes almost devoid of vegetation, gives to the hills in the central and southern portions o the taluk a wild beauty of their own. The rocks of this range belong to th Dharwar system and contain, in some parts, iron ores. The records of the Geologi cal Department for the year 1905-06 refer to two enormous dolerite dykes forming high hills in some places running throughout the Molakalmuru-Pavagada-Tumkur granite ranges on its western edge. Many of the hills in these tracts look as if "they had been thrown up in the throes and convulsions of nature which accompanied the birth of this land."

6. Drainage.—The water-shed separating the river system of the Krishna with its affluents, the Vedavati and Tungabhadra westwards, from that of the Pennar eastwards, may be defined by a line drawn through Nidgal, north and south, passing along ridges of hills and hillocks. Nearly three-fourths of the taluk is in the basin of the Pennar, also known as the Oottarpinakini, which rises near the Nandidurg hills. The river passes along the borders of the south-east corner for about three miles and, after a north-easterly course of nine miles in the Penukonda Taluk, enters the taluk in the north-east at Pendaljevi, and then after a run of about nine miles, passes into the Anantapur District, and finally reaches the Bay of Bengal near Nellore. The drainage of three-fourths of the tract under report seeks the level of the Pennar by several nallas or hallas, which intersect the country. The chief of them rises near the hills in the south, and, after a winding course between the hills, flows northwards for about twelve miles, receiving the surplus waters from other hallas and finally joins the Pennar at Wudrevu, feeding the large tank at Palavalli on its way. The drainage of about one-fourth of the taluk in the extreme west finds its way, after filling the intervening tanks, into the Hagary or the Vedavati, which joins the Krishna beyond the limits of Mysore in Srisaila near Kurnool. The irrigational value of the streams and streamlets will be dealt with under the appropriate head.

7. Flora.—In the drier and hilly portions of the taluk, the flora consists largely of such drought-resisting plants as Euphorbias (unarmed and thorny kalli), chujjalu, kaggali, kakke, and lakali, the Babul (Acacia arabica) and the tamarind, which is always a lover of granite soil. Over all the fallow unculturable lands grows the golden flowered tangadi shrub (Cassia auriculata), valuable for its bark used in tanning. On the sides of the hills particularly of those in the centre of the taluk, an inferior grass, known locally as 'Bade,' grows freely. During seasons of drought, this grass is cut and used as fodder for cattle in spite of its weakening effects. The whole taluk is diversified with picturesque valleys in the south-west and north, where conditions for tree growth are favorable. The cocoanut, arecanut and panvel gardens found chiefly in the south-west valleys and round about Pennasamudra and Gumgatta are certainly picturesque and refreshing. The characteristic trees of the valley and low-lying lands not brought under cultivation, are the Babul, the date palm which lines the edges of every halla and ravine, and the honge, with a free growth of the tangadi shrub. The neem, the tamarind and the mango trees are found scattered about. The vivid green of patches of trees in low-lying grounds generally goes hand in hand with well-irrigation. Deciduous timber trees are conspicuous by their absence. The aloe hedges on both sides of the old abandoned Bellary road in the north-east and around well gardens there grow luxuriantly.

8. State Forests.—The reckless denudation of fuel trees for making charcoal for iron furnaces or for export to Bellary and for consumption both within the taluk and without, has been checked by the constitution of the marginally noted State Forests in 1905-06. Though these forests may not produce any valuable timber, they still have their own use as preserves of fuel, and of grass for cattle in seasons of drought.

9. Soils.—While the red ferruginous soils varying widely in composition and quality predominate in the taluk, black cotton soil of fair quality is met with in some villages of the north-east spur round about Tirumani, and poor mixed soil in some villages in the east of the taluk. Excepting under irrigation, the soils are generally poor, shallow and unproductive, resting upon gravel or decomposed rock. Deep ferruginous fertile loams are met with here and there. The soils in the neighbourhood of hills are gravelly and look as if they were wholly composed of pebbles. Even under irrigation, the presence of salt, carbonate of soda and other deteriorating ingredients, renders cultivation in many places unremunerative. By using all available manure, cattle droppings, green leaves and tender branches wherever available, the fertility of irrigated lands is kept up unimpaired.

10. Rainfall.—The rainfall in Pavagada, the taluk head-quarters, in 1907 was 17·61 inches, in 1906, 19·83 inches; and in 1904, 19·56 inches. The average for the 35 years ending with 1907 comes to 20·73 inches. There are three other recording stations in this taluk, viz., Hoskote in the north, Tirumani in the north-east and Arsikere in the south-west. In 1906, the rainfall in Hoskote was 27·33 inches, in Tirumani, 24·94 inches and in Arsikere, 25·44 inches. In Hoskote, the average for 14 years ending with 1906 comes to 20·29 inches.

A reference to the diagram accompanying this report to illustrate the variations in annual rainfall, land revenue collections and the average prices of rice and ragi, will show that the average rainfall was liable to violent fluctuations with corresponding effects on agricultural operations. The fall for Pavagada was highest in 1874, when 41·62 inches was recorded; the lowest was in 1876 with 8·70 inches. Within the past 36 years, the fall exceeded the average in 10 years, reached the average, slightly below or above, in 10 years, and fell well below it in 16 years. The taluk may be said to lie midway between the two monsoons, but receives the full benefit of neither. Its position is not favourable to its profiting greatly by the south-west monsoon, and the north-east current will have left behind most of its moisture before reaching it. The Western Ghats and the ranges of Bababudan and other hills intervening between this taluk and the sea, mostly intercept the vapour-laden currents of the south-west monsoon. A considerable portion of the rainfall over this tract may be traced to ascensional movement accompanying cyclonic storms. On the average 8 storms of moderate to considerable intensity are said to pass from the Bay of Bengal to India between June and September. Tank-filling rains occur generally in connection with these storms and hence are uncertain. When the rainfall is received in a series of light showers, the effect of it rapidly passes away. What this taluk requires is a small number of good down-pours which would thoroughly soak the soil and fill the tanks and feed the springs. In 1907 and the three years preceding, such tank-filling heavy down-pours were rare.

11. Climate.—The taluk is a dry one. The temperature is high in the three hottest months of the year, March, April and May. It enjoys a pleasant and temperate cold weather. Like most dry areas, the taluk is a healthy one. Fever, small-pox and dysentery are some of the diseases which make their occasional appearance. Wet or garden cultivation in this taluk does not carry with it the penalty of an increase in malaria as in other parts of the Province. Cholera now and again breaks out and sometimes with a little of its old energy. It yields to some extent to the spread of sanitary ideas. Owing to the position of the taluk well outside the Railway line, plague, though once imported in the south-east spur, died away without spreading and committing havoc. The benefits of evacuation are so well known here that the infected villages by timely sanitary arrangements have kept the demon out. The north-east, south-east, south-west and northern villages are generally healthy. A few villages in the south and a few more in the north-west are unhealthy.

12. Communications.—As regards communications, an immense change has taken place in the taluk during the 36 years that have elapsed since the original settlement. Colonel Grant in para 13 of his report remarked, "The means of communication are very bad, there being one made road in the taluk, the Bellary-Bangalore, which is at the present moment in a state of decay." But this is now maintained in an excellent condition and is a well-established road of great importance. A fair portion of the surplus produce is carried on this road in carts.

The new roads since the original settlement are—

(1) A road from Pavagada through Kodamadavu and Roddam to Penukonda Railway Station in the Penukonda Taluk of the Anantapur District.

(2) A road from Pavagada through Parasarampur to Challakere.

(3) A road branching from the Bellary-Bangalore road, 8 miles north of Pavagada to Hoskote.

(4) The Penukonda-Madaksira road which cuts the south-east spur. The old made road from Penukonda to Bellary through the north-eastern spur has been abandoned and is therefore in a state of decay, though it is occasionally used by carts.

There are two cart-tracks maintained in repair by the Revenue authorities. One, 18 miles long, is that connecting Pavagada with Arsikere, a flourishing village in the south-west corner noted for its areca gardens. The other, 9 miles long, is that connecting Pavagada with Nagalmadike on the banks of the Pennar. At the time of the original settlement, the taluk formed an isolated tract of country, cut off from the rest of the Province. The new and improved means of communications connecting Pavagada with all important places around were, so to say, crowned by the opening of the Bangalore-Guntakal Railway line which passes on the east of the taluk, from 8 to 13 miles from its boundary. The stations of Hindupur, Malagur, Chakarlapalli, Penukonda, Makkajipalli and Nagasamudra are not far from the border. Hindupur and Penukonda are the chief stations resorted to. These improved communications have removed altogether the disadvantages of the isolated position of the taluk as it stood at the original settlement, and have given it the benefits of the equalization of prices due to the opening of Railway lines intersecting the Province. This tract is now in touch with important trade centres. The conversion of the Pavagada-Arsikere and Pavagada-Nagalamadike cart-tracks into made roads will further improve the facilities of communication. The allotments from the District and Local Funds for maintaining these cart-tracks in working order are altogether inadequate.

13. Markets.—The weekly markets held inside the taluk are Pavagada and Hoskote. They are unimportant as they only serve the neighbouring villages. The outside markets of Hindupur, Amarapur and Bellary find a ready sale for all the surplus produce of this taluk. Of these, Hindupur is a rising one in close touch with Bellary and Anantapur Districts on one side, and Bangalore on the other. The open competition in this market, which is also a Railway station, offers better prices for food grains than elsewhere.

14. Fairs and Festivals.—There are no local jatras of any great importance. The car festivals of Kanave Narasimhadevaru temple in Pavagada and of Channakesavapur and the Nagalmadike Parase are attended by a few hundreds from the surrounding villages. Hussainpur has its own local jatra. If there is any feature regarding the celebration of festivals worthy of mention, it is the custom prevalent among the Bedars of celebrating the Yugadi (the Telugu new-year's-day) with great eclat. They form an important caste in this taluk and belong to the old fighting class of the country. The Pallegars' forces and Hyder's famous troops were largely recruited from them. They still retain a keen interest in sport. They organise parties for boar-hunting on the day after the Yugadi. Hundreds join in the exciting chase, which continues for three or four days, and they do not return home without a kill. Their example is emulated by other castes, Mahomedans, Vakkaligars, Reddis and others.

15. Manufactures, Arts and Industries.—The manufactures of this taluk are on a small scale and are mostly produced to meet the demand in the markets, wtih which it deals. The weavers of cotton and wool form the most important of the non-agricultural population who subsist by handicrafts. The cotton weaving industry consists mainly in the making of panches or dhotis with or without silk borders and coloured sadis and bodices. Practically all the thread used is mill-made and imported from other parts of India, ready dyed. The impetus given to hand loom industry by Mr. V. Krishnasami Iyengar, B.A., (son of Mr. Raghavachar, Inamdar and Advocate) to weavers in his Inam village, Venkatapur, has borne good fruit. He has introduced several Kornad and other patterns for coloured sadis. He supplies the weavers with fast-dyed yarn and takes the finished cloths. The cloths manufactured under his direction find a ready sale in Bangalore and Mysore. He has shown how educated capitalists can help the weavers by advice and timely loans. In Hoskote, where there are merchant capitalists, the weavers find ready employment. The weaving of silk has not yet been well introduced. There are at present 428 cotton looms. Woollen kamblis are made from the wool of the black and white sheep by the Kurbars in Pavagada, Bettadakelaginhalli and a few other villages. Women and children assist in the preparation of the warp and other preliminary steps. The Madigas tan hides and skins by hasty, rough and primitive processes and manufacture leather for well buckets, shoes and other requirements of the villages. The demand for well buckets makes even such tanning a profitable handicraft. There are some smelting furnaces in Nidagal and some other villages round about, worked in a primitive manner. The ore is produced by washing the iron sand from the hallas round about Nidagal. This industry, which was once flourishing in this taluk under outside capitalists, is now languishing owing to difficulties in procuring charcoal, and to the rise of wages and the cheapness of imported iron.

Aloe Fibre.—The extraction of fibre from the aloes, common in the north-east spur, gives employment to many, as the ropes made from the fibre are much in demand in connection with kapile wells. An English company, which in Tirumani started extraction of fibre by means of a steam decorticator, stopped after a time for reasons not known. The company is now working in the Anantapur District.

Impure glass is manufactured in Viralagundi. The crystals obtained from alkaline earth are mixed with flint and broken bangles and fused in a furnace. This is sold in bulk to bangle manufacturers. The goldsmiths and other village artisans find employment as in other maidan taluks.

16. Exports and Imports.—The chief exports are rice, ragi, jawari, horse gram, tamarind, kamblis, sadis, etc. The imports are salt, cotton cloths, iron, kerosene oil, etc.

17. Irrigational Resources.—These from an important factor in the present revision, as the rainfall, as already stated, is capricious and deficient, and therefore demand very close attention. Broadly speaking, there are three sources from which water for irrigational purposes is obtained: 1st, wells; 2nd, tanks; 3rd, natural springs from which channels are sometimes led to very great distances.

(1) Wells.—In the absence of river channels, the most certain source of irrigation is to be found in the kapile wells which are very numerous and are found in every village. These are of all descriptions. Some are mere holes in the ground made at a cost of Rs. 10 to Rs. 15, the kapile resting on a few logs of wood or temporary stone revetment below; but the majority of them are deep cuttings through soft porous rock or hard strata. In some wells, the water is near the surface but in many of them the cuttings are deep. When bad seasons follow in succession for three or four years, they have to be further deepened before reliable or certain springs are reached. When the cuttings do not form walls of tolerable durability against silps, they are revetted with stones. These pakka wells, with permanent arrangements for the kapile fittings, cost from Rs. 400 to Rs. 1,500; I have occasionally come across wells costing even more than Rs. 1,500; but they are few. As the area under well irrigation is generally protected in all seasons, no labour or capital available is stinted in keeping them in working order. There are 2,719 wells, of which 2,620 are utilized for irrigation. During the currency of the settlement, there have been additions to the number of wells. Under the Land Improvement Loans Regulation and the Rules framed thereunder, Rs. 46,015 have been loaned to the raiyats of this taluk for sinking new wells, 209 in number. The number of wells has not only increased, but many have been deepened and maintained in fair condition. A few costly wells in the north-west dried up and were therefore abandoned. The increased area under well irrigation will be shown under the appropriate head. These wells are usually found on the banks of the Pennar or other hallas or below tanks or in low-lying valleys.

(2) Tanks.—Almost all the best sites for tanks have been already utilized; the most important hallas which carry the drainage of the country have been bunded up. It is only the surplus water that finds its way to the rivers. The tank return shows 130 irrigation tanks in repair and 22 breached. The marginally noted tanks, which existed at the original settlement, are the most important in the taluk. They have been improved and maintained in order. Of these, Byadanur, Gundalhalli, Kannamidi, and Kanakapur are also fed by talaparige springs during summer.

5. Pensamudra

8. Domatmari

The marginally noted major tanks have been constructed during the currency of the settlement. At the time of reclassification, the Pottiganhalli tank, though complete, had not received any supply of water. The other four tanks command an atchkat of 1,013 acres, a portion of which remains to be brought under the plough. Fifty-seven out of 130 irrigation tanks, were dealt with by the Public Works Department for repairs or improvements. During the currency of the settlement, the Public Works Department has spent Rs. 2,53,097 on original works, inclusive of new tanks, and Rs. 33,878 on repairs, showing that this taluk has received special attention to protect it from drought or famine.

2. Bugadur
3. Jaladavoo
4. Pothganhalli

(3) Talapariges or spring channels are a striking characteristic of this taluk. Years of deficient rainfall in succession have had a bad effect on them inasmuch as they fail to supply water during summer. With a succession of good rainy seasons, the taluk abounds in springs. The talaparige channels drawn from the bed of the Pennar to feed the wells on its banks are the best, being the most reliable. Next in order come those that feed some of the tanks, and the channel drawn from the kodihalla of the Parige tank. The water has to be conducted from the fountain head by means of artificial channels kept clear of sand by daily labor. These talaparige channels have, during the currency of the settlement, shown a general deterioration. Though some of these may not have worked for four or five years past, the raiyats are anxious that they should not be deprived of their rights over them as they expect better times and better seasons. Double crops are raised under some of the channels drawn from unfailing springs.

18. Crops.—Crops follow soils, rainfall and irrigational resources. Ragi, jolam and rice are the staple crops in irrigated lands under tanks and wells, navane and tobacco being subsidiary crops. Horse gram, navane, save, sajje, oil-seeds and cotton are the predominating crops in dry lands. In Dhruvapairu gardens, cocoanut, areca, panvel and plantain are the chief crops raised. The areca grown is of an inferior kind. Superior panvel is grown in Pennasamudra and Kannamidi. The following statement showing the distribution of crops is compiled from the Agricultural Statistics of 1906-07:—

Rice	3·75
Jola	2·73
Ragi	11·24
Kambu	12·27
Horse gram	35·68
Other cereals	22·49
Oil-seeds	6·09
Cotton	4·27
Other miscellaneous crop (food and non-food)	1·48
	100·00

Ragi and jola are grown here only as irrigated crops; they require much less water than paddy; they are therefore successfully grown in wet lands when the tanks do not receive a full supply. For similar reasons, they are favourite crops under wells. Whenever the supply of water is assured or certain, rice is preferred to other crops on account of high and certain profits especially on account of the excellent quality of the rice grown in the taluk. Gid or kar ragi as Mungar, and natu or ain ragi as Hingar, are the two varieties grown here.

19. Population and Resources.—These important factors in the present revision demand very close attention as throwing certain light on the material prosperity of the tract and its capacity to meet the demand of Land Revenue without straining its resources as well as its staying power against drought or famine. The following statement, compiled from the statistical returns prepared at the time of the Revenue Survey, aided by the Census and other statistics available, shows the progress of the taluk during the currency of the settlement:—

The following figures compare the population of the Government villages of this tract as per Census in 1871, which preceded the year of the introduction of the original settlement, with the Census periods of 1881, 1891 and 1901:—

Census of
1871	1881	1891	1901
58,459	40,077	50,411	57,873

The Census figures have of course been preferred to those collected during original or revision survey as more accurate. The Census of 1881 showed a terrible loss of 31 per cent of the population due to the great famine, aggravated as it was by the then isolated position of the taluk. The Census of 1891 showed the recuperative power of the tract with an increase of 25 per cent in population. The Census of 1901 showed an increase of 15 per cent. As compared with that of 1871, the Census of 1901 showed still a decrease of 1 per cent against a similar decrease for the whole district.

The total population as per last Census is 57,873, which gives only 116 to the square mile, but 211 to a square mile of the occupied area. The distribution of the population by religion and castes is as per margin. The Vakkaligars, Bedars, Gollars, Kurubars and Madigars are the predominating castes engaged in agriculture.

1	Bedars	... 16·78	11	Neyagar	... 2·63
2	Agasa	... 1·92	12	Uppar	... 1·80

7	Komati	... 2·40	17	Other castes each under 1 per cent	... 5·23
8	Lingayat	... 2·21			100
9	Kurubar	... 8·23
10	Madiga	... 14·98

20. Agricultural Resources.—The figures given above indicate satisfactory progress under all heads during the currency of the settlement, though the population is almost the same. Houses show an increase of 6 per cent; horned cattle, 14 per cent; sheep and goats, 46 per cent; ploughs, 18 per cent. Carts show a remarkable increase of 284 per cent, due mostly to improved communications, high prices and certain markets. The all-round increase in agricultural stock in spite of seasonal vicissitudes of no infrequent occurrence, is a satisfactory indication of material prosperity.

Cattle.—Lightly assessed dry lands available in large extent and the hills on the north and east where Baday grass grows well, have been taken advantage of for breeding cattle. The bulls bred here are strong and hardy though stunted of size. They are fast trotters and command good prices in the neighbourhood. Full-sized and strong bullocks for kapilay wells are generally imported from the Bangalore and Mysore Districts.

Husbandry.—Though there has been no notable improvement in the mode of husbandry, it may be interesting to note that under well irrigation intensive cultivation is chiefly carried on more by the help of the spade than by the plough. The sickle, as elsewhere, continues to be the king of the harvest field.

21. Prices.—The information regarding prices furnished by the taluk authorities is very meagre. On account of the destruction of old records, no information could be had for the years 1871-72 to 1892-93. The interesting compilation of Retail Prices of some principal articles of food published by the Director of Statistics, contains information about district averages since 1886. In the absence of correct information from the taluk for such a long period as 21 years, I have compiled the figures for rice and ragi for the Tumkur District from back volumes of the Mysore Gazette, and marked the variations in their prices on the accompanying diagram, taking the prices of the year of introduction of original settlement at 100. The accuracy of these variations is borne out by the prices that ruled in Bellary, Bangalore and Mysore markets during the corresponding periods as noted in 'Prices and Wages' published by the Government of India. After every allowance is made for the cost of carriage and of middleman's profits and the high level of prices that ruled during the great famine, their general upward course as evidenced by the diagram is striking. Taking the prices of 1872 as 100, rice reached the highest level 188, and ragi 426, in 1901, the lowest for rice being 82 in 1875, for ragi 108, in 1872. After the great famine, rice reverted to the level of 1872 only in 1880, 1884, 1887 and 1888, though corresponding figures for ragi were 196, 160, 135 and 150. The opening of the Bangalore-Hindupur Railway in 1893-94 changed the whole aspect of trade by annihilating distance and bringing the tract within the sphere of influence of the leading trading centres of Southern India. The rise or fall in prices does not now entirely depend on local variations in seasons, but mostly upon the level of prices in entrepots of trade, depending upon the season prospects of the whole of India. The steadying of prices by increased facilities of transport is observed in the chart since 1893-94, the average increase in rice being 52, in Ragi 240. The difference in rice between these two important food stuffs may be worthy of notice as showing the increasing demand for ragi in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies. The partial famine or scarcity in parts of those presidencies in 1899-1902 as well as the famine in the north in 1902-03 and 1908, have also contributed towards maintenance of the high level of prices of ragi. During four of these six years (1902-08), this taluk had more than its average rainfall and fully shared in the high prices of ragi. From the above observations it is but fair to assume at a modest calculation that rice has risen by 30 per cent and ragi by 100 per cent during the currency of the settlement.

22. Sales and Mortgages.—I have had recorded 799 sales and 595 mortgages extending over 31 years, the aggregate amount of sales and loans exceeding 3½ lakhs. The land, when sold, realized on the average, 10·5 times the assessment, and loans obtained on mortgages, 16 times the assessment; due allowance had of course to be made for such transactions as included house property along with lands. That loans on mortgages should bear a higher ratio to assessment than on sales, may require some explanation. When valuable lands, protected against vicissitudes of season, come into market, the reason may be generally found in the deterioration of the property or the inability of the owner to work his lands at a profit; but loans on mortgages are generally given when the property is in working condition yielding good returns. As well-irrigation is the main-stay of agricultural operations here and as its working requires labor and capital, the salable value of lands cannot be as high as in taluks where tanks or channels command a certain supply of water.

23. Past and Present Survey.—There are now 16,572 new or resurvey numbers against 14,334 original survey numbers, showing an increase of 2,238 or 16 per cent. This increase is due to the measurement of new roads made during the currency of the settlement, of wet lands below new tanks into survey numbers of 2 to 5 acres in extent and of small-sized new survey numbers out of unassessed kharab numbers for extension of cultivation, as well as to optional sub division of survey numbers under Resurvey Rules. The area of each description of land according to past and present survey, is as follows:—

Description	Former survey acres as per Akarband	Present survey acres	Increase or decrease
Arable dry crop	213,801	209,468	—4,333
Rice or wet land	8,545	8,597	+52
Garden land	10,751	11,857	+1,106
Unarable land	87,752	91,605	+3,853
Total ...	320,849	321,527	+678

An increase of 678 acres by resurvey is of no consequence, being only 0·2 per cent. What is of consequence, is the difference under the different heads.

The dry arable area has decreased by 4,333 acres due to the conversion of dry into wet or garden, or to the transfer to the unarable head when taken up for new roads or new tanks or other public purposes.

The wet land shows but a small increase in spite of additions to irrigable area under new tanks, as some of the lands originally classed as wet are now classed as garden owing to the additional protection they have acquired from wells sunk during the currency of the settlement, or as dry when water-supply has failed.

The garden area shows a satisfactory increase of 1,106 acres owing to the transfer at reclassification from wet for reasons stated above and to conversion of dry into garden. Abandoned gardens under tanks or channels were, in some cases, transferred to wet when suited to altered conditions of water-supply.

Every survey number was subjected to careful scrutiny, both in the field and at head-quarters. The boundary marks of every survey number were carefully examined, the missing ones being replaced according to original measurement. This last, but important work absorbed the lion's share of the attention of our measurers during resurvey.

24. Reclassification.—The original classification of the soil has been left undisturbed except in the few cases of conversion of dry into wet under new irrigation works or of lands classed for the first time. The water classification of all the rice and garden lands has been revised under the Rules of 1896. Such an operation is very important in a dry taluk like this where great changes have occurred owing to improvements of, and repairs to, tanks at heavy cost to Government, or to construction of new tanks, or to deterioration of tanks or tapping of new springs or drying up of old ones. Without such an operation, full effect cannot be given to the liberal principles of garden assessment as laid down in Government Order No. R. 3138-46—R. F. 8-1900, dated 24th January 1902.

25. Revenue History.—Appendix A gives the revenue history of the tract under report for 34 years. The Amildar was, on account of the destruction of records, unable to give me correct figures for the years 1872-1885. Though the Deputy Commissioner was requested to give the Amildar the statistical information available in his office, correct or complete returns have not yet been received. The revenue history has, therefore, to be based upon the returns sent to the office of the Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey and Settlement, and the taluk figures available since 1884-85, without any means of checking the absolute accuracy of the former. For purposes of inferences regarding the course of cultivation, their accuracy need not be questioned. A glance at the diagram indicating the variations in land revenue collections since 1872-73 will show a curious or striking fact; for thirty years from 1872 to 1902, the land revenue collections showed a falling off as compared with the first year of the introduction of the original settlement. It was only in 1903 that the original figures were again reached. Since then, the land revenue collections have been maintained at that figure with slight variations. If the collections for 1872-73 were taken at 100, they gradually fell off till they reached 67·7 in 1881-82, the average for that decade being 75·4. From 67·7 in 1881-82, the collections rose to 79·43 in 1891-92, the average for that decade being 77·1, and to 95·57 in 1901-02, the average for the third decade being 89·8, and still further to 99·7 in 1905-06, the average for the five years from 1902-06 being 99·3.

26. The following is an excerpt from Appendix A which is the revenue history of the taluk for 34 years from 1872-73 to 1905-06:—

The varying decrease in land revenue collections between 1872-73 and 1881-82 reaching the lowest point in the latter, three years after the great famine, is striking and as such, needs explanation, which may be found in the following facts :—

(1) Owing to the advent of the original Survey Settlement, people had applied for waste land under the erroneous notion that such settlement would, later on, put difficulties in their way.

(2) The Revenue management prior to the original settlement was attended with many abuses which were not removed by the introduction of improved and new forms of accounts. As the land to a great extent was then in the hands of shanbhogs or their influential relations, systematic concealment of cultivation was a prominent abuse. The introduction of the original settlement changed the whole aspect of affairs. Every gunta of occupied land had been brought to book. The old accounts of 1870-71 showed that the unoccupied area of all descriptions was 25 per cent more than the occupied area; but the Survey Settlement showed that the unoccupied area was less than one-half the occupied area. This was no welcome revelation to influential and rich land owners who were suddenly called upon to pay much more than they were used to do. When they found that the administration of Survey Settlement afforded them every facility for acquiring lands, they began to relinquish the lands which they had obtained for reasons stated in (1) supra or which they could not cultivate with profit.

(3) The great famine of 1876-78 causing a loss of nearly 30 per cent in its population, also accelerated the movement of relinquishment of all useless lands.

(4) The last, though not the least important, was the unsatisfactory condition of most of the major irrigation works during this decade when only Rs. 236 or ½ per cent of the total expenditure on old and new irrigation works during the currency of the original settlement, was spent on repairs as against 25 per cent in the second decade, 56 per cent in the third decade and the balance in 1904-05. The gradual improvement in land revenue collections in the second and third decades along with liberal investments on Public Works, is a noticeable feature. The restoration or improvement of major irrigation works has given a salable value to wet lands, thereby minimising relinquishments even in years of scanty or deficient rainfall. Since the opening of the Bangalore-Guntakal line, prices have been steadily maintained at a high level and the land revenue collections have also been steady in spite of the vicissitudes of season. There is, therefore, every reason to believe that the land revenue collections will, in the future, be steadily maintained.

27. I have touched upon the various factors requiring consideration in the present revision stating the relative force of each in its proper place, and shall now briefly sum up. The isolated position which the taluk occupied at the original settlement has altogether changed owing to new roads opened out within the taluk and to the Bangalore-Guntakal line which passes not far from the eastern boundary. The general rise in prices of grains, especially of ragi, is unquestionable. At the original settlement, the prices obtainable here were low on account of the means of communication being in bad condition; as it is now otherwise, it fully shares in the high level of prices ruling in the important trade centres of Hindupur, Bangalore and Bellary. All the important major tanks in the taluk have been restored to order or improved at a heavy outlay to Government. Five new major tanks, Kamandurg, Jaladavu, Potaganhalli, Kyatagankere and Bugadur, have been added. When wet cultivation is established below these tanks, they will add to the staying power of the tract against drought or famine. The agricultural resources have improved. Against the above advantages are to be set off the vicissitudes of the seasons, and successive years of deficient rainfall, which have the effect of making the talaparigey channels languid if they do not altogether cease to flow. The springs in some wells may also become languid or uncertain, requiring further deepening at heavy cost. Dry crop cultivation, on account of uncertain and scanty rainfall, has not made any striking advance. The increase of 14 per cent in cultivated wet and garden land, serves to show how irrigated crops continue to absorb the attention of the raiyats.

28. New grouping.—Having thus compared the circumstances of the taluk, past and present, as far as possible with the materials at my disposal, I may take up the question of grouping the villages under report for the purpose of fixing the new assessment. As at the original settlement, the maxima for rice and garden will be the same throughout; the grouping has reference only to the dry crop assessment. Though I have mainly adhered to the old grouping, some changes have been made where altered circumstances clearly demanded them.

The following, then, is my proposed grouping with maximum rates recommended:—

Group I.—57 villages as against 45 villages of original settlement, within easy reach of Pavagada or of the outside market of Amarapura or of the Railway line, possessing advantages of climate, population, markets and husbandry. 12 villages, mostly in the north-eastern spur, have been raised from the 2nd to the 1st group on account of the striking change in their situation for the better, due to the Railway line superadded to other advantages such as extension of dry cultivation, improvement in agricultural resources, husbandry, etc. The old maximum dry crop rate was Re. 0-10-0 now proposed to be raised to Re. 0-12-0. In the case of 45 villages, the increase will be only 20 per cent; but in the 12 villages newly raised to the 1st group, it will be 50 per cent. The original rate was pitched low on account of the special circumstances, some of which, as already shown, have ceased to exist. The increase in dry crop rate now proposed is moderate. No alteration is proposed in the wet maximum of Rs. 6.

Group II.—83 villages as against 95, chiefly to the north-west, north and south-west, not so favorably situated as those of group I. The whole maximum dry crop rate of Re. 0-8-0 will now be Re. 0-10-0 effecting an increase of 25 per cent. The wet maximum of Rs. 6 remains as before.

29. Garden maximum.—The old maximum rate for tank gardens was Rs. 12. I now propose to reduce this to Rs. 8, a rate which has been reached only in the few cases of flourishing dhruvapairu gardens. The well gardens had a maximum rate of Rs. 6, but their assessment will now be revised under the rules of 24th January 1902.

Land Survey, dated 21st September 1909.

30. Wet maximum.—Owing to the peculiar difficulties that wet cultivation is laboring under in this taluk on account of the uncertainty or unseasonableness of tank-filling rains, I propose to keep the old maximum unaltered, which I consider, is sufficiently high; but the reclassification of water-supply has taken account of the improvements of tanks and the deterioration of others by silting up, neglect, etc. The effect of this mode of assessment will undoubtedly be to keep the rates on wet lands very moderate, a result to be desired as the returns of wet cultivation under Government sources of irrigation are precarious owing to their entire dependence upon seasonable tank-filling rains.

31. Revised garden assessment.—There have been found, after resurvey and reclassification in this taluk, 11,857 acres of garden of all kinds and tenures which I classify and assess as below:—

Description	As per original settlement			As per revision settlement			Increase or decrease
	Area	Assessment	Average per acre	Area	Assessment	Average per acre
	Acres	Rs.	Rs. a. p.	Acres	Rs.	Rs. a. p.
1. Gardens under tanks ...	5,860	29,300	5 0 0	6,298	26,077	4 2 4	—17 p. c.
2. Gardens under tank-dependent wells ...	...	...	..	1,153	3,393	2 5 1	—15 p. c.
3. Gardens under wells so recorded at last settlement, purely self-dependent	3,926	10,796	2 12 0	2,539	3,737	1 7 7	—46 p. c.
4. Gardens as in 3, but water-supply failed	...			1,069	1,280	1 3 2	—56 p. c.
5. Gardens formed since last settlement under new wells	...	..	...	498	325	0 10 5	...
Total ...	9,786	40,096	3 14 0	11,857	34,812	2 15 0	—24 p. c.

Though the maximum for tank gardens at the original settlement was Rs. 12 per acre, the average was only Rs. 5, showing the extreme moderation with which the garden assessment was then fixed. The well gardens also received similar treatment. The results of the present revision under the liberal rules of 1902 show even further moderation as will be clear from the figures above. The revision of assessment of well gardens has been eminently favorable and admirably suited to a taluk like this where well irrigation may be said to be the main-stay of the agricultural population. Protection from famine can only be secured here by wells which transform the character of the soil—wet or dry—as well as that of their occupants by encouraging deep ploughing or spade cultivation, heavy manuring and growing valuable or paying crops. The deeper the wells are, the more valuable and better kept will the bullocks be for working the kapilays. They are sometimes housed in gardens. Though the area under tank gardens shows an increase of 8 per cent, the total decrease on their assessment is 8 per cent, the average rate per acre showing a decrease of 17 per cent. Well gardens were not divided at the original settlement into three classes as is the case now. Gardens under tank-dependent wells, now assessed on their merits with an average per acre of Rs. 2-5-4 show a decrease of 15 per cent; old gardens under self-dependent wells in working order with an average of Rs. 1-7-7 per acre, a decrease of 46 per cent; and non-working wells, a decrease of 56 per cent, as compared with their combined average rate per acre of Rs. 2-12-0 of the original settlement.

The revision of well gardens shows, on the whole, a decrease of 40 per cent. With such favorable and low rates, great progress in the extension of well irrigation may be expected, as there is plenty of room for improving existing wells or sinking new ones.

32. Results of revision.—The results which may be expected from the adoption of the rates now proposed are shown in detail in Appendix B, but the following excerpt, summarising the results of my proposals as affecting the recognised descriptions of dry, wet and garden for the occupied Government land, may be useful.

The average rate per acre for the whole tract has been raised from Re. 0-8-0 to Re. 0-8-2 with only an increase of two pies per acre. This increase may be open to the charge of being inadequate and nominal. I have sufficiently pointed out reasons why a tract like this should be liberally dealt with. The season report up to the 12th November 1908 shows a deficiency of 8 in. 93 cents in the average rainfall of the last 10 years for the corresponding period, and the prospects of the season, though not disheartening, are not free from anxiety to the raiyat.

33. As regards the distribution of the increase of Rs. 2,275 over the several descriptions of occupied land in the two groups, the following figures are submitted:—

Taking the various descriptions of land in detail, the average rate for dry land shows an increase of 11 pies per acre obtained by an increase of Re. 0-1-1 in Group I and Re. 0-0-9 in Group II, the former being partly due to the elevation of 12 villages of Group II to Group I; that for wet land, a decrease of Re. 0-3-2 per acre after allowance is made for miscellaneous revenue of Rs. 1,223, which is chiefly said to be for 'neersardi' or water rate on lands below tanks obtained by a decrease of Re. 0-0-7 in Group I and of Re. 0-7-6 in Group II. The average rate for garden lands shows a welcome decrease of Rs. 1-5-0. The decrease of Re. 0-3-2 in the wet rate per acre is not due to any decrease in the wet maximum as already stated, but to a re-adjustment due to reclassification on the basis of water-supply as it stands at present, improved or deteriorated during the currency of the settlement. This re-adjustment, resulting in a small decrease, will also be welcomed by the raiyats. The very small increase, on the whole, of two pies per acre has been obtained by a moderate increase of dry maximum which need not be viewed with apprehension.

Land Survey, dated 21st September 1909.

34. The effect of the proposed settlement showing the percentage of increase or decrease by groups, will be seen from the following table :—

Group	Number of villages	By former survey (1905-06)		By revision survey				Total		Percentage of increase or decrease on occupied land
		Government occupied land		Government occupied land		Unoccupied Government assessed arable land
		Area	Assessment	Area	Assessment	Area	Assessment	Area	Assessment
		Acres	Rs.	Acres	Rs.	Acres	Rs.	Acres	Rs.

On occupied lands, Group I shows an increase of 5 per cent, and Group II, a decrease of ·16 per cent with a total increase of Rs. 2,275 or 2·6 per cent as compared with the collections of 1905-06, or of ·27 per cent with the collections of 1903, the year of the highest revenue collections during the currency of the original settlement. Group I shows under dry, an increase of 60 per cent over that of group II, while the loss under garden is only 47 per cent of that in the latter; hence Group I shows an increase of 5 per cent while Group II, a decrease of ·16 per cent.

35. The following is a statement of the arable lands still unoccupied and of the assessment they will bear under my proposals; the figures for occupied area and the corresponding figures for both the occupied and unoccupied areas, as given in the original Settlement Report of 1872, are also noted for comparison :—

One of the tests of the material prosperity of a taluk may be found in the extent and quality of its unoccupied arable lands, which have been therefore exhibited above in considerable detail. From the above figures, it is observed that the occupied area is now nearly four times the unoccupied, the proportion varying in the several descriptions of land, the occupied gardens being 7 times the unoccupied, the wet 4·4 times, and the dry, 3·8 times. The area unoccupied is not so remarkably great for a dry taluk like the one under report, if it continues to maintain the same recuperative power it has shown during the last two decades. During the currency of the settlement, the dry occupied area has increased by 15 per cent, the garden by 4 per cent and the wet 8 per cent. The assessment of unoccupied lands is rather low, because they are poor. Out of 1,454 acres under unoccupied wet, about 200 acres are under new major tanks recently constructed; with the light assessment imposed on them, they are, in the near future, likely to be brought under cultivation. In spite of the extension of garden cultivation already explained in para 31 supra, the unoccupied area under garden shows considerable increase; this is explained by the fact that a large extent of this area was relinquished owing to failure of water-supply. The average rate on these gardens has been reduced from Rs. 2 to Rs. 1-10-3 per acre. With such moderate rates, there is also room for extension of garden cultivation.

36. In the revision settlement of maidan taluks, the lowest level of increase may have been reached here, though the heavy outlay on irrigation and other public works in the taluk and the unquestionable rise in prices, may appear to justify the levy of a much larger increase than has been obtained by the proposed settlement; but considering the climatic conditions, the precarious rainfall and the consequent increased cost of well irrigation, it may not be expedient to impose higher rates. The raiyat here is the most industrious that I have ever come across. Moderate rates of wet and garden assessment, erring on the side of leniency, will certainly help him in future in developing his staying power against drought or famine.

37. Cesses.—The ordinary Local Fund cess of one anna, and the irrigation cess of one anna on each rupee of assessment of wet and garden lands benefited by Government water, are both being levied; being in fixed proportion, they require no estimate. The irrigation cess has yielded, in round numbers, about Rs. 3,200 annually.

38. Limitation of increase.—There are only five instances in which the increase by revision exceeds the limit of 66 per cent. Bugadur, No. 55 of Group I, raised by 130 per cent, had 3 acres of wet land; it has now 178 acres of wet land owing to the construction of a new tank in the village. For a similar reason, Jalodu No. 34 Kamandurg No. 64, Kyathagankere, No. 70, all of Group II, show, respectively, an increase of 132,97 and 94 per cent, owing to extension of wet cultivation. Bomnagathihalli, No. 29 of Group II, raised by 314 per cent, had then only 47 acres of dry whereas it has now 235 acres under occupation. The increase in this case is therefore in area not in assessment.

39. A map on the scale of 2 miles to the inch, accompanies to illustrate my proposals, while the appendices are the usual revenue statements showing the revenue history and the usual classwar statement showing full details for each village.

40. If the settlement above proposed meets with your approval, I beg to request you to be good enough to obtain the sanction of Government to the same.

41. The settlement will, as usual, take effect in the year following that in which it is announced.

II. Letter No. 110, dated the 4th May 1909, from the Superintendent, ɾenue Survey, forwarding the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur trict, on the report, with enclosures:—

"In continuation of my letter No. 89, dated the 8th March 1909, forwarding ance copies of the report containing proposals for the revision settlement of the ɾagada Taluk, I have the honor to forward herewith copy of letter No. 1581, ed 20th April 1909, from the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, expressing opinion on the said proposals, together with a copy of my letter No. 815, dated May 1909, to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, on the subject. The ɔuty Commissioner while admitting the dry rate to be fair and the garden rate ɐe appreciably low, is of opinion that the decrease of Re. 0-3-2 in the average wet ɔ is not adequate to the deterioration in water-supply due to the silting up of ɜt of the tanks in the taluk. It will be observed from my letter No. 815 to the ɾenue Commissioner that every reasonable allowance has been made for deterio- on, wherever it is called for, and that the rate proposed is fair. I do not think t it would be advisable to decrease the maximum wet rate any further, which been pitched at only Rs. 6 per acre, as such decrease will result in an unneces- ɾ sacrifice of the legitimate revenue due to Government. The proposed wet ɜssment will not sit heavily on the raiyat; on the other hand, the decrease in average rate is sure to afford relief wherever it is needed.

I beg to add that I have made this reference to Government without waiting the opinion of the Revenue Commissioner on the proposals in question, as he ally submits his opinion on similar proposals direct to Government, although ctly speaking he has to send it to me in the first instance according to the ɔedure described in para 2 of the Survey Commissioner's letter No. 202-16, ed 3rd July 1906, and approved of by Government in para 14 of their Order R. 4299-310—L. S. 3-06-2, dated 29th October 1906.

It only remains for me to solicit the sanction of Government to the proposals le and to the introduction of the revision settlement by the announcement of ɜs during the ensuing cold weather, the settlement being ordered to take effect n 1910-11."

tter No. 1581, dated 20th April 1909, from the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, to the Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey

With reference to your letter No. 489, dated 7th January 1909, forwarding an expression of my opinion, a copy of Mr. K. Ramaswami Iyengar's report the proposed revision of the Pavagada Taluk, I have the honor to state that the ɔ-Divisional Officer, Maddagiri, who was requested to report on the subject, sulted the Amildar of Pavagada Taluk and reports that the proposed new rates ɜssessment are moderate and that the proposals of the Deputy Superintendent y be adopted.

2. The new dry rates proposed show only an average increase of 11 pies per e and this is not much considering the present high prices of food grains and improved agricultural resources of the taluk since the late settlement. The v wet rates show an average decrease of 3 annas and 2 pies per acre which is by means adequate, considering the much diminished capacity of most tanks owing the constant process of silting.

3. The new garden rates show an appreciable decrease of Rs. 1-5-0 per acre.

4. The printed proposals and the map received with your letter under reply herewith returned.

Land Survey, dated 21st September 1909.

Enclosure (2).

Letter No. 815, dated 4th May 1909, from the Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey, to the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore.

In continuation of my letter No. 500, dated the 11th January 1909, I have the honor to forward herewith copy of letter No. 1581, dated the 20th April 1909, from the Deputy Commissioner of the Tumkur District, expressing his opinion on the proposals made for the revision settlement of the Pavagada Taluk. The Deputy Commissioner, it will be observed, approves of the proposed dry and garden rates, but thinks that the decrease of three annas and two pies per acre in the average wet rate is not adequate, considering the much diminished capacity of most of the tanks in the locality owing to the constant process of silting. I beg to point out that the reclassification of wet and garden lands is made mainly with the object of ascertaining how the lands stand at present with reference to water-supply, which is a varying element, requiring periodical adjustment in the interests of both the raiyats and the Government. That in the reclassification of the taluk due allowance has been made for the deterioration of water-supply brought about by the process of silting or other causes, is borne out by the fact that notwithstanding an increase of 260 acres in the total area under wet cultivation, the average rate has fallen by so much as three annas and two pies per acre, the maximum rate remaining the same as at the original settlement, viz., Rs. 6. The adjoining taluk of Challakere, where circumstances are not more favorable than in the tract under consideration, has a uniform maximum wet rate of Rs. 6-8-0 for all the three groups and an average wet rate of Rs. 3-0-9 per acre. Compared with the Challakere Taluk, the wet rate proposed for Pavagada which is fixed at the very low pitch of Rs. 6, is more liberal, and any reduction in the said rate is, in my opinion, not called for.

III. Revenue Commissioner's letter No. 11647, dated the 13th May 1909, containing his observations on the above report :—

"With reference to the proposals of the Deputy Superintendent of Revenue Survey for the revision of assessment of the 140 villages now comprising the Pavagada Taluk, received with letter No. 500, dated 11th January 1909, from the Superintendent, Revenue Survey, I have the honor to submit the following observations.

2. The report for this taluk has been prepared by Mr. Rama swami Iyengar, Deputy Superintendent. It deals exhaustively with all details necessary to form an idea of the conditions of the taluk and its past and present history and is accompanied with a chart which enables one to gather at a glance the rainfall, prices of rice and ragi and the revenue collections for the last 36 years. The report is thus so full that there does not seem to be any necessity to go over the same grounds again in detail. I would only refer to some of the important points and add some comments of my own on the condition of the taluk and its urgent needs.

3. Physical characteristics.—The noteworthy feature of the physical characteristics is that the taluk presents "an undulating appearance with rocky hills cropping up irregularly all over its surface," which made it possible for the excavation of numerous irrigation wells and talapariges or surface springs in suitable localities. These hills are said to be covered with scant vegetation which is probably the result of improvident waste of the jungle resources of the taluk and the cause of its present comparative dryness.

4. State Forests.—It is stated that in 1905-06, three State Forests comprising 9,550 acres were newly formed, the total forest area in the taluk being only 12,130 acres. There is still ample scope for improvement in this direction, as I have attempted to show in another portion of this letter.

5. Soils.—The soils are said to be "exceedingly poor and unproductive excepting under irrigation," and even under irrigation, the presence of deteriorating ingredients such as salt impair their fertility, which is kept up by using all available manure, green leaves and cattle-droppings. It would have been instructive if the nature of lands which are impregnated with salt, their extent and the relief in the rate of assessment conceded to the same had been indicated in the report.

6. Rainfall.—The taluk is considered by its position to be most unfavorably situated in respect of rainfall. Being in the centre of the east and west coasts, it does not profit fully by either of the north-east or south-west monsoon. But, so far as the average quantity gauged goes, this taluk is not worse than some others in the State. The average rainfall at Pavagada for 35 years ending with 1907 is 20·73 inches, the average rainfall for the neighbouring taluks of Sira, Challakere, Madaksira and Dharmavaram being 19·17, 17·83, 24·14 and 20·47 inches respectively. Colonel Grant has observed in his original report (para 5) that though the average rainfall of the taluk is very scanty, still "the physical configuration of the taluk is such that water exists in extraordinary abundance to feed the streams and replenish the tanks" and that "natural springs rise in the hills which are very numerous all over the country." But experience has since shown that these springs have gradually deteriorated and seriously fail in years of deficient rainfall.

7. Communications.—Marked improvement has been made in communications since the original settlement. There was then only one road (Bangalore-Bellary road) 25 miles long and this was not in good condition. It is now in very good order and four more roads with a total distance of about 45 miles have since been opened, connecting important places. The opening of the Bangalore-Guntakal Railway line which passes very near the taluk has established a connection between this remote taluk in the interior with important centres of trade.

8. Irrigational resources.—The irrigational resources of this taluk have been classified under (1) wells, (2) tanks and (3) natural springs or talapariges. It is the irrigational facility supplied by these agencies that has enabled the people of this taluk to find their means of subsistence and manage to pull through even in years of scanty rainfall.

Wells.—There are as many as 2,620 irrigation wells. The extent irrigable by these wells has not been specified. But, assuming that all the lands irrigated by these wells have been treated as gardens under wells, the total extent would appear to be 5,011 acres, vide gardens under sub-heads (2), (3) and (4) in para 31 of the report. But according to the Crop Report the extent cultivated under wells appears to have amounted to as much as 8,747 acres in 1900-01. But owing to the deterioration of the subsoil springs, the extent cultivated under these wells has been gradually going down to 7,425 acres in 1904-05, 2,200 acres in 1905-06 and 2,500 acres in 1906-07. The raiyats regulate the extent of cultivation under these wells with reference to the direct rainfall as well as the quantity of water-supply in the wells, so that any material reduction in the fall of rain in any year doubly affects the extent under well irrigation.

Tanks.—It is worthy of note that the tanks in the taluk have received considerable attention since the last settlement and that about three lakhs of rupees have been spent on original works and repairs. But, with all that, the tanks do not apparently receive an adequate supply of water, for while 4,946 acres were cultivated under tanks in 1903-04 which had a heavy rainfall, the area dwindled to 1,820 acres in 1905-06 and rose only to 2,800 acres in the following year, which was also a year of good rainfall.

As observed in my review of the proposals for the revision of the assessment of the Sira Taluk, it is very desirable that these revision reports should contain fuller information as regards the capacity of the tanks, the average water-supply received in a series of years and the extent of land for which the supply was sufficient.

Talapariges.—The deterioration of the taluk as regards its water-supply is best illustrated by the condition of the talapariges at the present day as compared to what they were at the original settlement. Colonel Grant has observed in his report on the original settlement that "natural springs abound in the hills which occupy the centre of the taluk" and that "water exists in extraordinary abundance to feed the streams and replenish the tanks." In the present report the Deputy Superintendent states that "years of deficient rainfall in succession have had a bad effect on them inasmuch as they fail to supply water during summer." Talaparige irrigation is further very costly as remarked by Colonel Grant, as the repairs of the channels is an annual necessity.

9. In this connection, I cannot do better than invite attention to the serious waste of forest growth which has occurred in this taluk. As explained by Mr. Ramaswami Iyengar, the soil, though poor, is not unfavorable to the growth of vegetation. Even the hills could not have been formerly covered with scant vegetation as they are now. The reckless felling down of fuel trees for the use of iron furnaces and for purposes of consumption and the large use of plants for green manure for wet cultivation must have had a most baneful effect on growth of trees and vegetation. In spite of the small annual rainfall and its violent fluctuation, it cannot be stated that the failure of the talapariges and the deterioration of the wells can be due to these causes alone. There has not been any perceptible diminution in the rainfall since last settlement, for the three years' average given in Colonel Grant's report is only 21·71 inches, while Mr. Butcher observed that it was about the same as that of the neighbouring Doderi Taluk of Chitaldrug and the average for the last 35 years comes to 20·73 inches. The gradual drying up of the subsoil water-supply must be attributed to the more rapid run-off of rain water owing to the want of trees and vegetation to arrest its flow and allow the water to sink into the ground through their roots, thus increasing the store of subsoil water. In former times the area under cultivation was not so great as at present and the population and cattle being less, the requirements in the shape of fuel and fodder and green manure could have not been so heavy; and as the means of communication were limited, it was not possible to cut and remove fuel for purposes of trade. The unrestricted felling of fuel trees and removal of green plants for manure did not produce any serious consequences. But now that the wants of the people have increased very much and opportunities for profitable trade in fuel have increased, unchecked devastation could only end in serious disasters for the taluk. It behoves the Government, therefore, to conserve the resources of the taluk by all the means at its disposal in the interests of the future generations even at the risk of some present inconvenience to the people. The total area of this taluk being 320,000 acres, the extent of the forest amounting to only 5 per cent of the total area, is quite out of proportion as compared even with the other taluks in this maidan district. The area not available for cultivation and assessed unoccupied waste also are proportionately less than in the remaining taluks. It will be useless to expect people themselves to realise the evil and take precautions in time to conserve and improve the jungle growth. I would therefore recommend that before allowing the revision settlement to be declared, every endeavour be made to augment the present forest area in the taluk by reserving as much as possible out of lands classed as kharab, assessed waste and gomal wherever this can be conveniently done. The extent so selected need not necessarily be added to the State Forest but may be classed as Reserved Land under Section 35, Clause III, of the Forest Regulation, or as village forests subject to special restrictions; or, better still, such lands could be made available free of assessment or on a very low rate for growth of fuel or other trees alone, subject to the condition that no crops should be raised thereon.

10. Crops.—In considering the distribution of crops it is worthy of note that the occupied waste or current fallows in this taluk bears a high ratio to the area under crops. In 1904 and 1905 the current fallows exceeded the cropped area. This has been explained by Mr. Ramaswami Iyengar as due to the poor quality of the soil in consequence of which the raiyats sow gram in dry lands only in alternate years.

Though the percentage of rice crop is only 3·75, it must be noted that even dry crops are raised under irrigation owing to the irregular and insufficient rainfall, and the irrigated crops generally amount to about 20 per cent of the total cropped area; and it is this that has enabled the people of the taluk to get on in spite of the vicissitudes of the seasons.

11. Resources.—Coming now to the resources of the taluk, it cannot be said that the taluk has made any satisfactory progress. There has been no increase in population and the small increase in the number of houses is only nominal as they are only thatched or mud-roofed and the tiled houses have decreased. Though there is an increase of horned cattle of about 14 or 15 per cent, it cannot be said that the taluk which was once famous for its hardy breed of bulls has now got equally good stock. The increase in the number of carts is an indication of great expansion in cart traffic consequent on the increased facilities of communication. The decrease in the number of irrigation wells of nearly 30 per cent is clear evidence of decrease per se in facilities of irrigation and also of the diminution of the subsoil moisture.

12. Prices.—There is no doubt that prices have risen and that the taluk has greatly benefited by it, thanks to the greatly improved facilities of communications and the proximity to the Hindupur Railway line. But it cannot be denied that this advantage has been greatly discounted by the increased difficulties of cultivation and reduced outturn. The prevailing prices of land also support the same conclusion.

13. Revenue History.—There has been steady increase in the extent under occupation and assessment since the year 1888. The extent under the different classes of land, dry, wet and garden are available only from 1895-96 and since then, the greater portion of the increase both in the extent taken up and the assessment has occurred chiefly in the dry land only. As observed elsewhere, much of the inferior dry lands can be cropped only in alternate years and a large extent would ordinarily be put under the plough only in years of good rainfall. But owing to the want of unanimity in villagers, the delay in obtaining lands on annual darkhasts and also the rise in prices, the raiyats find it probably more convenient to stick to their lands though they may have to allow them to be fallow.

14. Grouping.—In para 28, the Deputy Superintendent has discussed the question of the grouping of the villages and observed that it has been arranged with reference only to the dry crop assessment. From this I understand that the villages have been arranged on considerations as to the standard rate of dry assessment to be adopted for different villages. If in this consideration the situation of the village with reference to the Taluk Kasba and proximity to the high roads and to the Hindupur Railway line, which is after all the main outlet of trade, has important bearing, I should have thought that some of the villages in the south-east corner and several of those lying between the Pavagada-Bellary road and the Pinakini river should have gone into the first group. Mr. Ramaswami Iyengar seems to have also taken into consideration points in relation to climate, population, husbandry, agricultural resources, etc. I would not therefore press this question, the more especially as both the Deputy Superintendent and the Superintendent are in accord on it.

The result of the new grouping is that about 12 villages which were formerly in the 2nd group have been raised to the 1st group.

15. Rates.—As regards the maximum rates for gardens, there has been a wholesome reduction from 12 to 8 rupees in the case of tank gardens, while those under wells will undergo revision under the Rules of 24th January 1902.

As regards the wet maximum, the Deputy Superintendent appears to have set off the effect of increased prices against the deterioration in water-supply and the uncertainty and irregularity of tank-filling rains and kept the old rate, viz., Rs. 6 per acre, unchanged. He seems to think that this would keep the incidence of wet rates within moderate limits, but the Deputy Commissioner has observed that the reduction in the average rate of 3 annas 2 pies in the wet assessment is not adequate. This position has been combated by the Superintendent, who cites in evidence of the rate being moderate " the fact that notwithstanding an increase of 260 acres in the total area under wet cultivation, the average rate has fallen by 3 annas 2 pies per acre though the maximum rate remains the same." I am not, however, able to follow him in this argument. This only accentuates the need for our adopting active measures for promoting forest growth so as to increase the storage of sub-soil water and facilities for green manure.

Land Survey, dated 21st September 1909.

Though the maximum dry rates have been raised to 12 and 10 annas, the increased incidence in the case of occupied lands is only 11 pies while the average rate comes to 4 annas. This cannot be considered too high in view of the great increase in the prices of dry grains, although it must be remembered that, on account of the extent of the current fallows, the actual taxation on the cropped area must be more near 8 annas than 4 annas. But even this cannot be considered as unduly hard. Further, both the wet and dry rates now proposed compare favourably with those obtaining in the neighbouring taluks of the Anantapur District which bound the Pavagada Taluk and are similar in soil and climatic conditions, the wet rates there being Rs. 8-8-0 to Rs. 2 and the dry rate Rs. 2 to 2 annas respectively per acre. It may also be stated at the same time that in Kalyandrug, the most hilly and worst of the taluks, 88 per cent of dry lands pays 4 annas and less per acre. On the whole the revision settlement is fair and has my approval."

No. R. 2501-12—L. S. 35-08-4, DATED BANGALORE, 21ST SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—The Pavagada Taluk, which at the time of the original settlement (viz., in 1872) belonged to the Chitaldrug District, now forms part of the Tumkur District; and, except for about 5 miles in the north-west, where it is connected with the Challakere Taluk, it is entirely surrounded by the Anantapur District of the Madras Presidency. At the original survey, the taluk consisted of 149 Government villages, besides five Inam villages. It has now 140 Government villages with an area of 532 square miles. The nine other villages to the north-west of the taluk were transferred in 1882 to the Challakere Taluk. Revision settlement has already been introduced into them along with other villages of the latter taluk under Government Order No. R. 4991-5001—L. S. 76-04-4, dated the 25th October 1905.

2. The physical features of the Pavagada Taluk are very characteristic. Being situated in the midst of a hilly tract, its surface has a peculiar undulating appearance and is naturally adapted to the formation of springs or talapariges. In the hands of its industrious inhabitants these springs have become a powerful help to irrigation and constitute one of its main sources of protection against the effects of uncertain rainfall. The rainfall is a little more than 20 inches on the average; but as it is mainly in the form of light showers, the tanks often fail to receive an adequate supply. In the original settlement, the tract was considered to require great moderation in the rates to be imposed on account of the exceptional poverty of the soil, the isolated position of the taluk situated at a distance from the main lines of traffic, its defective internal communications and the great labour required in using the water from the talapariges for irrigation. Though much has been done since the last settlement to remedy these defects, yet the progress in this direction has not been sufficiently marked to justify any great departure from the policy adopted in the original settlement, and the principles upon which the rates were then fixed have been adhered to as much as possible in the present proposals.

3. The means of communication possessed by the taluk have been greatly improved since the last settlement and it is now directly connected with all important centres of trade in the adjacent British and Mysore Territories. Four new roads have been opened since the original settlement; and the single road which then existed and which was stated to be in a condition of decay, is now well maintained. The Bangalore-Guntakal Railway line passes at a distance of from 8 to 13 miles of its boundary. The taluk is, therefore, no longer isolated and has easy access to the market of Hindupur, Amarapur and Bellary. It has thus greatly benefited by the general rise in prices throughout the State.

4. Owing to the precarious nature of the rainfall, great attention has been paid to the construction and maintenance of tanks, a sum of Rs. 2,53,097 having been spent on original works and Rs. 33,878 on repairs, since the last settlement. Five major tanks have been newly constructed; and the condition of the irrigation works, in general, though still leaving much to be desired, is on the whole stated to be satisfactory. The number of wells used for irrigation which, as has already been stated, form a necessary adjunct to wet and garden cultivation in the tract, is 2,620, of which 209 were dug with the aid of loans amounting to Rs. 46,015 received from Government.

5. There has been a noticeable increase in the occupied area, it having risen from 1,54,771 acres at the time of the original settlement to 1,76,390 acres. The rate of progress in the extension of garden and wet cultivation has, however, not been very marked. The extent of wet and garden lands in the taluk still remaining unoccupied is 1,454 and 1,404 acres, respectively. One of the causes for the backward state of wet and garden cultivation is stated to be the failure of talapariges, owing to changes in subsoil water due to neglect of forest conservancy.

6. The taluk has shown other indications of prosperity, such as a rise in the value of the land, and an increase in the number of houses and the quantity of agricultural stock.

7. Its population, like that of the rest of the district, though showing a steady tendency to increase, after the effects of the disastrous famine of 1876-77, has still not fully regained its former level. At the original settlement, it stood at 58,549, and was according to the last Census 57,873.

8. According to revision survey, the total number of survey numbers is 16,572 as against 14,334 at the original settlement.

9. The areas of the different descriptions of land according to past and present survey are as follows:—

Description	Former Survey acres as per Akarband	Present survey acres	Increase or decrease
Arable dry crop	2,13,801	2,09,468	—4,333
Rice or wet land	8,545	8,597	+ 52
Garden land	10,751	11,857	+ 1,906
Unarable land	87,752	91,605	+ 3,853
Total ...	3,20,849	3,21,527	+ 678 or 2 per cent

10. The old grouping has been maintained, as much as possible, only 12 villages, mainly in the north-eastern spur, having been raised to the 1st group, owing chiefly to the advantages they have derived from the extension of the railway. There are 57 villages in the first group and 83 in the second group.

11. A comparative table is attached to this review, showing the different varieties of land with the assessment, and the proportion of the occupied to the unoccupied area, according to the original and revision settlements, and also as they stood with reference to the actual revenue collections of the year 1905-06, i.e., the year preceding that in which the revision survey operations were undertaken.

The old wet maximum has been retained. But there has been a decrease of 3 annas and 2 pies in the average wet rate, as calculated according to the rates actually levied on all lands, including those converted into wet, since the last settlement. The Survey Superintendent, while admitting that the prospects of wet cultivation have been affected by the failure of talapariges, is however of opinion that the rate now proposed is low, and that in working it out the assessment on each land will be graduated according to its merits. The maximum rate for tank-gardens has been reduced from Rs. 12 to Rs. 8. In accordance with the liberal policy adopted in 1902 with regard to gardens, the average rate on tank-gardens has been reduced by 17 per cent; and that on well-gardens by 40 per cent. Thus, though there has been an increase of 1,701 acres under garden cultivation, the assessment on gardens has fallen from Rs. 37,452 to Rs. 31,656.

Land Survey, dated 21st September 1909.

12. The revision, which is expected to yield a total assessment of Rs. 1,04,852, and marks an increase of only about 2·6 per cent on the collection of 1905-06, is, therefore, very moderate. The limit of 66 per cent prescribed for increase of assessment has not been exceeded, except in the village of Bagadur in the first group; and of Jaladu, Kamandurg, Kyathagankere and Bommagathihalli in the 2nd group. The increase in these cases is due to extension of wet cultivation and conversion of dry land into wet, since last settlement, owing to improvement of irrigational resources.

13. Government are, therefore, pleased to sanction the rates now proposed with the usual guarantee of 30 years. The rates will be announced during the ensuing cold weather.

14. Government are in full agreement with the unanimous opinions expressed by the Deputy Superintendent, the Revenue Commissioner, and the Conservator of Forests as to the injury done to the water-supply of the tanks and talapariges in the taluk by the neglect to conserve the forest resources of the tract. The four blocks that have been reserved during the last four years are said to have an aggregate area of only 17 square miles and are confined to the bare hills. The Conservator is requested to take immediate steps for the reservation of other scattered tracts still reported to be available. The Deputy Commissioner is requested to take action on an extensive scale for getting forest and fuel trees planted in all suitable localities by inducing the inhabitants to avail themselves of the concession laid down in Appendix H to the Land Revenue Rules of 1890, and also to conserve all wooded areas which cannot be constituted into State Forests by getting them reserved under Section 35 of the Forest Regulation or treated as village forests. Government will also be glad to consider proposals, if any, from the Revenue Commissioner or the Conservator for any particular concessions which the peculiar circumstances of the taluk may require, in order to encourage further extension of forest growth in it.

15. Separate orders will issue,* in connection with the Sira Revisional Settlement Report, on the other suggestions made by the Revenue Commissioner, regarding the statistics to be entered in the settlement reports on soils, state of irrigational works, etc.

16. Mr. K. Ramaswami Iyengar, Deputy Superintendent of Survey, deserves much credit for his lucid and comprehensive report.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore.

READ—

The following papers regarding the Revision Settlement of the Sira Taluk:—

1. Letter No. 32, dated the 22nd September 1908, from the Superintendent of Revenue Surv y and Settlement in Mysore, to the Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments:—

"1. As desired in para 14 of Government Order No. R. 4299-310—L. S. 3-06-2, dated 29th October 1906, I have the honor to submit for the consideration of Government six copies, accompanied by six copies of illustrative map, of my report containing proposals for the revision of the assessment of the Sira Taluk of the Tumkur District.

2. I have sent copies of my report both to the Revenue Commissioner and the Deputy Commissioner of the Tumkur District for their opinion and I shall on receipt of their replies submit the same to Government for sanction with such remarks as I may consider necessary."

Report No. 22, dated 15th August 1908, from D. Shama Rao, Esq., Superintendent of Revenue Survey and Settlement in Mysore, to K. S. Chandrasekhara Aiyar, Esq., B.A., B.L., Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments.

I have the honor to submit proposals for the revision of the assessment of 228 villages of the Sira Taluk as it stood at the original settlement. On the proposals of Captain (now Colonel) Grant, late Survey and Settlement Commissioner, made in his letter No. 224, dated 6th June 1870, the introduction of original settlement was approved in late Chief Commissioner's Proceedings No. 2052—Rev. No. 74, dated 14th July 1870. 213 of these villages now form the bulk of the Sira Taluk as reconstituted in 1882 and 15 form part of the present Gubbi Taluk. The present Sira Taluk has had additions from the late Koratagere Taluk when that taluk was abolished. These will be taken up for revision along with the villages of the late Koratagere Taluk as it stood at the original settlement.

2. Boundaries and general description.—The tract under consideration is bounded on the north by Hiriyur and Madaksira Taluks; east by Madaksira, Koratagere Sub-Taluk and Tumkur; south by Gubbi and Tumkur and west by Chiknayakanhalli (late Budihal) and Hiriyur. This tract is irregular in shape. Its greatest length from north to south is 40 miles and greatest width east to west is 23 miles. Sira is the northernmost taluk of the Tumkur District.

3. Physical characteristics.—The entire tract, with the exception of the Bukkapatna magani, is fairly level and free from jungle; the usual undulations of the maidan are, of course, present throughout but considerably so in the centre and the south, where consequently long lines of Shendi Banas, growing along the slopes of low lying villages are much in evidence. Towards the south-west, hills of considerable height are met with. Some of the lower slopes of these hills are covered with a thin forest of Kamara and other trees.

4. State Forests.—A State Forest of considerable area in the Bukkapatna hobli has been formed in this tract. The Forest Department is fully alive to the importance of forest conservancy in the tract which would be treeless but for date and gobli trees in hollows, and avenue trees all along made roads reared with great care and trouble. The marginally noted villages have been absorbed into the Bukkapatna State Forest.

1. Madanahalli
2. Kambadalu
3. Venkatapur
4. Kanvi Rampura
5. Maridasanhalli
6. Boranhalli
7. Suladahalu

5. Drainage.—The lie of the land is mainly from south to north, with an inclination towards the west. The drainage from the Madaksira Taluk in part and from the adjoining portion of the tract itself is driven into a number of hallas which have been bunded up and converted into large or small tanks varying with the quantity of water carried by hallas during rains. The Handikunte, the Nadur, the Hulikunte and the Dodd Banageri series in the north form the principal tanks into which the drainage of the north finds its way.

The Bukkapatna and Kurihalli tanks in the south-west, and the Chikkasandra, Handenahalli, Sira, Agrahara and Kalambella tanks are some of the notable tanks effecting the drainage of this tract. The surplus water of all these series flows into a stream which rises near Timrajanahalli in Tumkur Taluk, about 4 miles on the Sira-Tumkur road from the southern boundary of this tract, and passes through Kalambella due north to Sira and then sharply winds to the north-west, eventually finding its way to the Vedavati river, also feeding on its way the large tank at Dharampur in the Hiriyur Taluk. This stream does not directly irrigate any extensive land. But it is studded with a large number of kapile wells, and as a source of indirect benefit to the numerous wells on its banks, is valuable.

6. Soils.—In the north-west of this tract bordering on the Hiriyur Taluk and in parts of the Bukkapatna magani, black cotton soil, not of a superior variety, is found, but the soils are generally of the light red and partly of a greyish brown colour. Under irrigation, rich soils are found here and there; chowlu and karalu are common faults. A rocky substratum is generally found not far from the surface.

7. Crops.—Rice, areca, ragi, togari, gram, avare, etc., are the chief products of agriculture. Areca is the principal product of Dhruvapairu gardens, in which cocoanut and plantain also occupy a position of secondary importance. Panvel is here and there cultivated with profit. Other fruit trees, such as mango and jack, are found as usual on the boundaries of gardens. Rice is the chief crop raised in lands irrigated by tanks and streams. Sugar-cane cultivation, though remunerative, has not received any attention in this tract, which barely contains 32 acres under sugar-cane. Ragi, rice, jola, chilli and tobacco are the chief crops raised in well-irrigated lands. In dry lands, ragi, togari, horse gram, haraka, savé and oil-seeds are the chief crops. As ragi does not flourish in the north, togari, hurali, savé and haraka are grown. In the black cotton soil, jola and inferior cotton are generally grown. With the help of rain water, inferior rice is here and there grown in low lying lands. In parts of the Bukkapatna and Nadur hoblis, gardens containing cocoanut trees are met with. These are mostly rain-fed gardens.

8. The following statement showing the distribution of crops is compiled from the Agricultural Statistics of 1905-06:—

Jola	5·22
Barley	0·01
Ragi	30·93
Gram	9·91
Rice	4·03
Other cereals	38·21
Cotton	0·63
Oil-seeds	5·69
Tobacco	0·58
Sugar-cane	0·03
Garden produce	3·46
Miscellaneous crops	1·30
Total	100

The proportion of food and non-food crops is 1,008: 150.

9. Rainfall and climate.—The average rainfall in Sira for 36 years (1871-1907) was 19·17 inches, at Kalambella for 16 years (1891-1907) 22·15 inches, at Bukkapatna for 16 years (1891-1907) 22·54 inches, and at Bargur for 19 years (1888-1907) 21·67 inches. It is pretty evenly distributed in the whole tract, except towards the north, where judging from the general condition of things, especially the dry crops, it may be 4 or 5 inches less than the fall in the rest of the tract. Broadly speaking, Bukkapatna magani in the south-west and Kalambella in the south are better off than other maganis, the Kasba Sira magani comes next and lastly the Nadur and Hulikunte maganis. This tract participates in both the monsoons, the south-west and the north-east, but the former is that principally relied upon for dry crops, though it fails in some parts to be seasonable. As compared with Hiriyur, the rainfall is better. No information is available regarding the average rainfall, extending over any long period prior to the introduction of the original settlement beyond the remark that this taluk appears to enjoy a good rainfall.

Revenue (Land Survey) dated 24th September 1909.

10. During the decade 1871-81, Sira gauged much less than the average rainfall and did not in any year reach the average. In the next decade 1881-91, the rainfall was certainly better; in 1881-82, 1882-83 and 1884-85, it was less than the average, the other years gauging a little more than the average. During the decade 1891-01, the improvement was well maintained. In 1899-00 it was less than the average. During the period 1901-07, the rainfall has been above the average except in 1904-05 when it was slightly below. The temperature in all seasons is moderate and bearable. Fever is prevalent in some parts during winter; cholera occasionally appears here and there. The plague, as may be expected from the situation of the tract with reference to rail-roads, has been a rare visitant and never virulent. The general health of the tract is on the whole good.

11. Communications.—As regards communications, a great change has taken place since the introduction of the original settlement. The roads that existed at the original settlement were—

(a) The Bangalore-Bellary road, i. e., Sira-Tumkur and Sira-Hiriyur road.
(b) The Sira-Maddagiri road.
(c) The Sira-Huliyar road passing through Bukkapatna.
(d) The Sira-Gubbi road called Sira-Nelligere road.

The subsequent additions to the roads are—

(1) Sira-Amrapur road connecting the northern portion with the important outside market of Amrapura in British territory.

(2) Bukkapatna-Hagalvadi road connecting parts of the tract with Chelur and Bellavi of the Tumkur Taluk. The latter is an important and rising market.

The most important improvement in the means of communication was the opening of the Bangalore-Harihar Railway line; though this does not pass through the tract, the nearest Railway Station, Tumkur, is only 16 miles from the southern boundary of the tract, and therefore easily attracts a good portion of the surplus produce which does not find a ready and profitable sale in the nearer markets. There are several cart-tracks in the interior connecting all villages of any importance. It is evident that this tract on the whole is well provided with roads to every important place of business around it.

12. Markets.—The weekly markets held inside the tract are Sira, Chikkenhalli and Puttanaikanhalli. Of these, Sira is the most important on account of rice trade which attracts tradesmen from several places outside the tract; the other two supply local needs. The outside markets are of much more importance. Of these, the Amrapura in the Madaksira Taluk, Bellavi and Tumkur in the Tumkur Taluk are the most important and freely resorted to. Gubbi, Chelur and Hiriyur, though utilised, are not very important. The Marikanave Fair on account of the floating population of labourers, was consuming surplus rice, gram, etc., from parts of this tract. As the Marikanave works are approaching completion, it is dwindling down. Areca is exported to Amrapura, Madaksira, Bellavi and Tumkur. The Tumkur market is rising in importance. There are several Hindu and Labbey merchants there, who readily buy any quantity of all available surplus produce and rail them off in different directions.

13. Fairs and festivals.—Of the annual jatras, that held at Sibi, where is an ancient Hindu temple, attracts about 5,000 persons for about a week and is the only one of any importance. Minor jatras and car festivals are held in several other villages and they are only of local importance.

14. Manufactures, arts and industries.—The tract is not noted for its manufactures. Kamblies, rough cotton cloths, gunny tat, grass mats, common native jewellery and common carts give employment to a small portion of the population. The raiyats find it generally cheaper to buy imported goods.

15. Exports and imports.—The chief exports are rice, ragi, areca, tobacco, togari, gram and other pulses. The less important are cocoanut, betel-leaf, groundnut and jola. The imports are cotton and woollen goods, kerosene oil, salt, sugar, jaggory, spices and iron.

Irrigational resources.

16. Tanks.—It must be said on the whole that the arrangements to conserve the available drainage water are uncommonly good. Almost every village of any size possesses one tank at least, if not more. There are many Government tanks in the taluk; seventeen of them yield a revenue of over Rs. 1,000, fifty yield between Rs. 1,000 and Rs. 500, and the rest below Rs. 500. The important tanks are those at Bukkapatna, Kurihalli, Agrahara, Chikkasandra and Handanahalli. Out of these Handanahalli and Kurihalli were constructed after the introduction of the original settlement, and Chikkasandra and Dod-Banagere have been improved. Almost all the important major tanks are maintained in good order. The Kalambella tank irrigating valuable garden and rice lands badly wants improvement. The Public Works Department has, during the currency of the settlement, spent nearly 4½ lakhs of rupees in restoring or constructing tanks in this tract. This was one of the tracts that received special attention regarding irrigation works. The minor tanks of the tract are not generally in a satisfactory condition. They deserve special care and attention for being restored and kept in order.

17. Wells.—This tract contains 2,687 irrigation wells of all kinds. Many of them are rivetted with stones. Some are only holes or hollows in the ground, unrivetted, except under the kapile. Some others are of a temporary kind, the kapile resting merely on a few logs of wood. Small wells rivetted with pot rings for yatems are found near Sira. Many of these wells supplement the supply from tanks or streams. Some of them do not command springs of a perennial kind. When tanks dry up, they do fair service for two or three months. Scanty tank filling rains, however, affect the springs in these wells, thereby reducing their utility when most needed. The hallas passing through the tract indirectly benefit the numerous wells on their banks. The numerous tanks and wells may well be stated to be the main stay of the agricultural population of this tract. The more the attention paid to these irrigational resources, the greater will be the power of the agricultural population to combat against drought or famine. Though much has been done in this direction there is still room for improvement.

Population and agricultural resources.

18. A comparison of the past and present population and agricultural resources would indeed be highly interesting, if scientifically accurate information were available under all important heads; but unfortunately, such accurate statistics are not forthcoming. We have to depend upon statistics collected during the classing operations and checked by Census figures and statistics periodically published by the Director of Statistics. The following statement compiled from information available may give a fairly correct idea of the progress of the tract under this head:—

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 24th September 1909.

19. The following figures compare the population according to the Census of 1871, which accords nearly with the year of the original settlement, with the Census periods of 1881, 1891 and 1901:—

Census of 1871	Census of 1881	Census of 1891	Census of 1901
71,672	49,611	65,398	74,034

20. I have taken the Census figures for population as they are certainly more accurate than those collected during the progress of original classing or re-survey operations. The total population has from 1871 to 1901 risen by 2,362 or a little over 3 per cent, against a general decrease of 1 per cent for the whole district. The Census figures tell the usual tale of terrible loss of human life during the great famine of 1876-78, followed by gradual recuperation. The mean density of population in 1901 was 126 to the square mile. The southern half of the tract is more populous than the northern.

21. Sira was for nearly a century, the capital of a Mahomedan Kingdom south of the Tungabhadra river and had attained a high degree of prosperity. The Jumma Masjid of hewn stone and a number of tombs and the ruins of a large city bear testimony to its greatness at one time. Sira contains a fairly large proportion of Mahomedan population, 3,598 in number. Agriculture and trade engage their attention.

22. The number of tiled houses forming a very small proportion of the whole number of houses has decreased by 58 per cent but the number of mud-roofed houses in which the rich and better class of people live has increased by 41 per cent; thatched houses have increased by 76 per cent. Horned cattle and sheep and goats show an increase of 42 and 83 per cent respectively. In the number of carts there has been a very remarkable increase of 234 per cent, indicating a significant expansion of trade both import and export. The ploughs show an increase of 44 per cent, corresponding with a large area of the available best land brought under cultivation. The increase in the agricultural stock of the tract is very satisfactory.

23. Husbandry.—There has been no notable or distinct change in the mode of husbandry. The agricultural implements, the methods of using them and the kinds of manure used are just the same. The mining (manganese) industries near Bellavi and Javagondanahalli, not far from the boundary of the tract, may have had some small effect by way of attracting labour or surplus produce. It has not yet brought about any perceptible change for the better.

24. Prices.—As usual, the percentage increase in prices during the period under consideration cannot be determined or established with accuracy or nicety. For 1871-72 to 1874-75 taluk prices are available. From 1875-76 to 1897-98, the taluk price lists are not available as they are said to have been destroyed. Lists from 1898-99 up to date are available. In the absence of complete information with special reference to the tract, I have referred to the retail prices of some principal articles of food grains for 1905-06 and previous years from 1886, for the Tumkur District, published by the Director of Agricultural and other Statistics, and to the prices of the neighbouring markets of Hiriyur and Tumkur. Leaving out the high prices due to famine and taking only the normal prices into consideration, the prices have on a moderate calculation risen by 30 to 40 per cent. This increase is not difficult to explain; the prices now no longer depend on the year's outturn; a year of scarcity is not necessarily followed by high prices or a year of plenty by low prices. The railway has now annihilated distance. The outside demand from the Madras and Bombay Presidencies has been strong and unfailing. As long as the railways and improved means of communication continue to work along with increase in population, area under cultivation and agricultural stock, the average rise in prices attained will continue. There is no prospect of their returning to the unremunerative level of old days and of only local demand.

25. Sales and mortgages.—I have had recorded and examined 3,741 sales and 1,250 mortgages extending over a period of 36 years. The aggregate amounts realized by these sales and mortgages are Rs. 6,11,455 and Rs. 3,16,485 respectively. The land realized on an average 12 times the assessment and the loans obtained on mortgage 10 times the assessment, making due allowance for house property included in the transactions along with the lands. If capital and labour required for garden and wet cultivation, vicissitudes in seasons and the mode of husbandry are all considered, the rise in the value of land is satisfactory.

26. Results of re-survey.—In carrying out the re-survey, 21,626 old survey numbers have become 23,908 showing an increase of 2,282 or 10·5 per cent. Advantage was greatly taken of re-survey operations to get several new numbers made for extension of cultivation. There was room for forming more numbers but the raiyats avoided applying for it in order to get over the difficulty of erecting new boundary marks. The boundary marks of every survey number were carefully examined and the missing ones were replaced according to original measurement. As in other taluks the latter took up a great deal of the precious time of our men in the field.

27. Re-classification.—This is a maidan taluk. The re-classification of water-supply to all wet and garden lands, old and new, was carried out as sanctioned by Government in their Proceedings of the 5th November 1896. The original soil classification was adhered to except in the case of new survey numbers made out of kharab lands and classed for the first time.

28. Old and new area.—The area and description of land according to former and present survey is shown below:—

Description	Former survey area as per Akarband	Re-survey acres	Increase or decrease
Arable dry crop land	200,811	190,346	—10,465
Rice or wet land	10,260	11,332	+1,072
Garden land	9,795	11,377	+1,582
Unculturable land	155,183	163,170	+7,987
Total ...	376,049	376,225	+176

There has been a difference of only 176 acres or about $\frac{1}{20}$th of an acre per cent. The difference is so insignificant that no remark is necessary. The area of each survey number was subjected to scrutiny both in field and in office. The deficiency of 10,465 acres under dry is accounted for by an increase of 2,654 acres under garden and wet and of 7,987 acres under kharab or unculturable land. Though new numbers were made available for cultivation, there has been a net decrease of 7,811 acres. This is accounted for by the measurement of water-spread of tanks and of channels constructed or extended during the currency of the original settlement, of new roads made, of margins to old roads and tanks, when below the regulation limit, of new cart-tracks and foot-paths, and of conversion of assessed lands included in State Forests or of assessed lands containing thick set of Shendi Banas unsuited for agricultural purposes into kharab or unassessed waste.

29. Revenue history.—Appendix A gives the revenue history of the taluk under report for 38 years. As desired by Government the occupied and unoccupied assessed areas have been classified under dry, wet and garden and shown in appropriate columns except for 3 years 1877 to 1880 in the case of the former, and seven years 1874 to 1881 in the case of the latter, for which the necessary details are not forthcoming in the taluk records.

30. The following statement showing differences between the year of the introduction of original settlement, the lowest revenue collection year, and the highest revenue collection year, with the percentage of increase or decrease as compared with the year of original settlement may be of interest for judging progress :—

Year	Revenue collections	Increase or decrease
1870-71	1,14,425
1881-82 (lowest year) ...	85,243	—25 p. c.
1906-07 (highest year) ...	1,22,579	+ 7 p. c.

31. The variations in the land revenue collections are peculiar and striking. The collections began to fall off during the year following the introduction of the year of original settlement (1870-71) and continued to do so till 1893-94, ranging between 2 and 25 per cent. The great famine of 1876-78 and the too frequent years of deficient rainfall during that period of 23 years with the diminished population, must have contributed towards the long-continued falling off in land revenue. Since 1894-95 the collections began to improve gradually but slowly on the figures of 1870-71, ending in a small increase of only 7 per cent in 1906-07. As the revenue during the last 12 years has been gradually on the increase though at a small rate, no reasonable fear need be entertained that the collections would fall off in the future near or distant. The amount of annual remissions for one reason or another varied from Rs. 70 to 1,767 during the whole period, except in 1876-77 when on account of the great famine, a large sum of Rs. 20,683 had to be remitted.

32. The following statement shows the several descriptions of land as they stood at the original settlement and at re-survey :—

Description	Occupied area			Unoccupied assessed waste
	As per original settlement	As per re-survey	Increase or decrease	As per original settlement	As per re-survey	Increase or decrease
Dry ...	102,366	122,069	+19,703	96,957	66,912	—30,045
Wet ...	7,164	10,235	+3,071	1,290	787	—503
Garden ...	9,477	10,894	+1,417	105	426	+321
Total ...	119,007	143,198	+24,191	98,352	68,125	—30,227

Under dry, the expansion of occupied area is satisfactory; the increase under wet and garden is due to extended cultivation and classification of new wet and garden lands on account of improved or new irrigation works undertaken during the currency of the settlement. A very large area under dry is still available for cultivation which in this tract may be dependent on increase of population and recurrence of favourable seasons. Under wet and garden there is room for extension. With a re-classification of water-supply and a much-reduced garden rate, a considerable portion of wet and garden unoccupied area may in the near future be taken up.

33. I have now dealt with all the important points which can help us to determine the lines on which the revised settlement should proceed. Cultivation after varying checks extending over two decades has recovered its lost ground and has been slowly increasing from 1894, population has increased only by 3 per cent during the long period of 37 years. But the agricultural stock and other resources have expanded satisfactorily beyond what might have been necessary for the increase of only 3 per cent in population, communications have been well improved, prices of staple food grains have shown a steady increase. The disadvantages of vicissitudes in seasons and their effects on harvests are beyond certain forecast; to minimise these disadvantages, the irrigational resources have been well attended to.

Grouping and maximum rates.

34. The original grouping has been adhered to except in the case of 6 villages which have been brought down to a lower group, to remove their incongruous positions. When the limitations to increases in revision settlements prescribed in Government Order No. R. 1645-54, dated the 9th December 1903, are duly considered, there will not be much room left for the raising of villages on a large scale from a lower to a higher group. The important factors that determined the original grouping have not changed so as to necessitate any material alteration.

35. I propose to divide the 228 villages of this tract into the following groups for purposes of revision of assessment:—

Group I.—Nine villages as against 11 of original settlement, situate very favourably on the Bangalore-Harihar road, possessing advantages in relation to markets and climate with special facilities for disposing of their surplus straw and fodder. For these, I propose a maximum dry rate of Rs. 1-10-0 as against Rs. 1-4-0 of the original settlement and a wet maximum of Rs. 9 as against the same in the original settlement.

Group II.—One hundred and eleven villages as against 115 of the original settlement favourably situated as to roads, markets, climate, etc. For these, I propose a maximum dry rate of Rs. 1-8-0 against Rs. 1-4-0 of the original settlement and a wet maximum rate of Rs. 9 against the same as was fixed at the original settlement.

Note.—At original settlement, 109 villages had a maximum dry rate of Rs. 1-2-0, and 2 villages of Rs. 1-4-0, and all these villages had a maximum wet rate of Rs. 9.

Group III.—Seventy-two villages as against 66 of the original settlement of the central and western maganis, not so favourably situated as groups I and II. For these, I propose a maximum dry rate of Rs. 1-5-0 as against Re. 1-0-0 and a maximum wet rate of Rs. 8 as against the same of the original settlement.

Note.—At the original settlement, 66 villages had a maximum dry rate of Re. 1-0-0 and a maximum wet rate of Rs. 8, and 6 villages, a maximum dry rate of Rs. 1-2-0 and a maximum wet rate of Rs. 9.

Group IV.—The last group comprises 36 villages some of which are situated in the extreme north-west, where the means of communication are indifferent and rainfall precarious, and the others on the Hiriyur boundary where the means of communication are fair but the people are in somewhat indifferent circumstances, and appear unable to deal with the heavy soils which exist to some extent in this tract. For these, I propose a maximum dry rate of Re. 1 as against 12 annas and a maximum wet rate of Rs. 8 as against the same of the original settlement.

36. It will be seen from the above that for wet or rice land, I propose to adopt the old maximum rate of Rs. 9 for groups I and II and Rs. 8 for groups III and IV, as I consider them sufficiently high for a tract chiefly depending on rain- fed irrigational resources. I am unwilling to recommend any increase of the existing maxima as the wet rates fixed previous to the original settlement were pitched very high, owing to the batayi cultivation carried on in this tract on an extensive scale. The existing maxima might have then had by contrast a favorable reception. Taking the average of the existing wet rates in better-lying and more favorable tracts of the State, I have left them undisturbed.

37. The maximum garden rates under the original settlement were Rs. 16 and Rs. 5 for tank and well gardens respectively. I now propose a maximum rate of Rs. 10 for tank gardens while well gardens will be assessed on the lines laid down in Government Order No. R. 3188-46—R. F. 8-1900, dated 24th January 1902. The maximum rate of Rs. 10 has enabled me to wipe off the extremes of garden assessment which were imposed at the original settlement under the maximum of Rs. 16.

38. The following statement will show how the gardens of various classes in this tract, of which there are 10,894 acres under all kinds, have been favourably assessed under the settlement now proposed as per Government orders quoted above.

Description	As per original settlement			As per revision settlement			Increase or decrease in averages

Total ...	9,783	55,128	5 10 2	11,333	43,794	3 13 10	—1 12 4

39. Some observations about the incidence of garden rates as per proposed settlement may be found interesting. During the currency of the original settlement, the area under garden cultivation has increased by 1,550 acres or 15 per cent. The proposed garden assessment, notwithstanding this increase in area, shows a decrease of Rs. 11,334 or more than 20 per cent. For tank gardens, there has been a decrease per acre of Rs. 2-2-4 or 27 per cent, and for well gardens indirectly benefited by tanks and streams as well as self-dependent, a decrease of Rs. 1-8-3 or 46 per cent, the decrease under the latter being very striking and most liberal. The new gardens opened out since the original settlement have been assessed at either the maximum or ordinary dry crop rates, according to their position, at an average of 11 annas and 5 pies per acre. On the "Wat Hukum" of old dry cocoanut gardens there has been a decrease of Rs. 1-11-3 per acre or 48 per cent. From a gardener's point of view it would be difficult to imagine more liberal garden rates and that in a taluk where garden cultivation is the chief main-stay of the raiyat.

40. Results of revision.—The effect of the proposed rates on occupied lands may be clearly seen when put in the following form :—

Description	By former settlements as per collections of 1906-07			By revision settlement			Increase or decrease

The average rate per acre for the whole tract has been raised from Re. 0-13-1 to Re. 0-14-5 or just one anna and four pies per acre.

41. The incidence of this increase on the several descriptions of land in the four groups will be made clear from the following table. This statement refers to occupied lands only.—

42. Taking the various descriptions of land in detail, the average rate of dry land shows an increase of one anna and six pies per acre, obtained by an increase of one anna and eight pies in group I, of Re. 0-1-10 in group II, Re. 0-1-4 in group III and Re. 0-1-2 in group IV. The incidence of this moderate increase in dry rate will not fall heavily on owners of dry lands which were assessed at favourable rates at the original settlement. The average wet rate shows a small increase of two annas and two pies per acre, obtained by a decrease of Re. 0-0-6 in group I, an increase of Re. 0-5-2 in group II, of Re. 0-1-7 in group III, and an increase of 3 pies in group IV. The very small increase of two annas and two pies in the average rate per acre is not due to any increase in the wet maxima as already stated but to re-adjustment due to re-classification of water-supply as at present enjoyed by them, whether improved or deteriorated during the currency of the settlement. As the increase has been mostly obtained by taking account of improved irrigational facilities, the proposed rates will be welcomed by the raiyats. The garden rate for the whole tract shows a very striking decrease of Rs. 1-13-5 per acre. How this has been obtained has been dealt with in para 39 of this report.

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 24th September 1909.

43. The general effect of the proposed settlement showing the percentage of increase or decrease by groups will be seen from the following statement:—

44. There has been no increase in group I. Group II shows an increase of 6 per cent, group III, 5 per cent, and group IV, 5 per cent, with a total increase of Rs. 6,086 or 5 per cent, exclusive of miscellaneous revenue over the collections of 1906-07, which was the year of the highest revenue collections during the whole period of 37 years.

45. There is still a considerable area of Government unoccupied assessed waste land available for cultivation in this tract, the details of which are as follows:—

Group	Dry crop			Wet			Garden			Total
	Acres	Assessment	Average rate	Acres	Assessment	Average rate	Acres	Assessment	Average rate	Acres	Assessment	Average rate

46. The revised rates provide, as already stated, for an increase of Rs. 6,086 or 5 per cent over the collections of the year 1906-07, which was the year of the highest revenue exclusive of the miscellaneous revenue which amounted to Rs.7,461. The bulk of this amount was levied as water rate on dry lands converted into wet under new irrigation works, which has not as yet been brought on to Akarband. This will not be a recurring item of revenue when the revision settlement is introduced into the taluk, as the lands paying water rate have been booked as wet or garden at the re-classification. If the miscellaneous revenue is added to the land revenue collections of 1906-07, the small increase shown above will disappear and the net result will be a loss of Rs. 1,370 or 1 per cent. Gardens account for 33 per cent of the land revenue. In spite of an increase of 1,820 acres or 20 per cent under garden cultivation, the proposed assessment shows a decrease of Rs. 9,517 or more than 20 per cent, and no further increase is possible under the existing rules for the revision of garden assessment. The old maxima of Rs. 9 and 8 for wet lands are high enough for this tract and there is no scope for further enhancement. The same maximum rates when adjusted to the present water re-classification give an average rate of Rs. 3-13-1 against Rs. 3-10-11 per acre. The dry maxima have been raised by 30 to 34 per cent owing to improved conditions. Notwithstanding the decrease of 10,531 acres in the dry area, the proposed dry rate works out an increase of Rs. 8,473 or 22 per cent over the collections from dry lands for 1906-07, which are the highest since the original settlement. This increase cannot with safety be exceeded in a taluk like the one under consideration, where dry cultivation depends entirely on seasonable rainfall.

47. A reference to para 33 in which the advantages as well as the disadvantages under which this tract is labouring have been set forth, and to the great loss under garden assessment, will easily explain away the small loss, under the proposed settlement, of one per cent above referred to, arrived at by taking the miscellaneous revenue also into calculation. This may not be a matter for regret as the revised assessment may lead to the prosperity of the agricultural population and expansion of cultivation.

48. Limits of increase.—There are six villages as shown in the margin which have exceeded the villagewar limit of 66 per cent. The increase in these cases is not due to higher rates but only to extended wet and garden cultivation, classed as such for the first time. Most of this area was shown under dry and was subject to temporary water rate as shown in the taluk accounts. Any increase over the allowed percentage on individual holdings, will be duly enquired into and adjusted when the settlement papers are ready.

1. Arehalli.
2. Chikkasandra.
3. Dvarala
4. Handenahalli.
5. Hoskote.
6. Naijante.

49. Local and irrigation cess.—Local fund and irrigation cess will be a separate levy as may be provided for by law. Being proportionate amounts, no estimate is called for.

50. In addition to the appendices submitted, a map of the tract on the scale of two miles to an inch showing the new grouping of villages is attached.

51 In conclusion, it only remains for me to solicit the sanction of Government to the rates now proposed. The settlement will take effect in the year following that in which it will be announced.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore,

2. Letter No. 60, dated the 23rd December 1908, from the same officer, forwarding the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District :—

"With reference to para 2 of my letter No. 32, dated the 22nd September 1908, promising to submit with such remarks as may be found necessary the opinions of the Revenue Commissioner and of the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, on my proposals for the revision settlement of the Sira Taluk, I have the honor to forward herewith copy of letter No. 686, dated 18th November 1908, from the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District stating that he agrees with my proposals generally. I have not as yet received the opinion of the Revenue Commissioner, to whom I forwarded a copy of the Deputy Commissioner's letter abovementioned with my letter No. 379, dated 20th November 1908, for favor of early opinion. An advance copy of my report No. 22, dated 15th August 1908, on the Revision Settlement of Sira had also been sent to the Revenue Commissioner with my letter No. 262, dated 20th September 1908. Early orders of Government on my proposals in question are solicited in order to enable me to announce the rates during the current cold season."

(Enclosure.)

Letter No. 686, dated the 18th November 1908, from the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, to the Superintendent, Mysore Revenue Survey :—

"In answer to your letter No. 263, dated 22nd September 1908, forwarding copy of your letter to Government No. 22, dated 15th August 1908, in regard to the revision of assessment in the Sira Taluk, I have the honor to state that I agree with it generally."

3. Letter No. 10274, dated the 23rd April 1909, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, to the Secretary to the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, General and Revenue Departments :—

"1. Adverting to letter No. 22, dated the 15th August 1908, of the Superintendent of Revenue Survey in Mysore, submitting for the orders of Government proposals for the revision of the assessment of 228 villages of the Sira Taluk, as it stood at the original settlement, I have the honor to submit my views on the proposed revision settlement.

2. The Superintendent, Revenue Survey, has gone very fully into the details as regards the physical and other characteristics and conditions of the taluk and the following particulars may be noted :—

3. Physical features.—The northern portions of the taluk are comparatively a level and bare country. From the centre it gradually becomes more and more undulating as it proceeds towards the south and hilly in and about Bukkapatna in the south-west. The lie of the land being from the south to the north with a slight incline towards the west, the drainage is from south towards north-west ; and there is a number of tanks, some of them forming part of a series. The surplus water of all these tanks ultimately finds its way into the Vedavati river. Though this stream is not of much use for direct irrigation, it is of much indirect benefit in feeding the numerous springs and kapile wells on its banks.

The taluk is almost free from jungles except along the slopes of low-lying villages in the centre and south in which date groves abound. The lower slopes of the hills in the south-west, are thinly clothed with kumara trees and an attempt has been made by the Forest Department to conserve the forest growth in this region ; and about 10,855 acres of land have since the last settlement been reserved as Bukkapatna State Forest, the total forest area of the taluk according to agricultural statistics being 22,873 acres for the 248 villages now comprising the taluk.

4. Soils.—The soils are stated to partake generally of light red and partly of greyish brown colour with some black cotton soil of ordinary variety in the villages bordering on the Hiriyur Taluk in the north-west and in parts of the Bukkapatna Magani in the south-west In some parts rich soils under irrigation are also stated to be met with. It would be very useful for purposes of statistics if information of total areas under different known varieties of soils could be approximately ascertained from the Classers' Books and given in future settlement reports. They will be of great use in comparing their fertility and crop-producing value for different kinds of products.

5. Rainfall.—The rainfall is almost evenly distributed throughout the whole taluk, being probably heaviest on the south-west and gradually growing less as the level and dry crop northern villages are reached. The taluk participates in both the south-west and north-east monsoons, the former being relied on for dry crop and the latter for filling the tanks.

Scale 2 Miles to an Inch.

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 24th September 1909.

The average rainfall at Sira for the 36 years (1871-1907) is only 19·17 inches which, however, is slightly better than that of the neighbouring taluk of Hiriyur for which the average for the same period is only 16·78 inches.

6. Climate.—The temperature is not subject to great fluctuation in any season of the year and the general health of the tract is in consequence stated to be good.

7. Crops.—The crops grown are mostly dry as may be expected from the small rainfall and facilities for irrigation in the taluk, rice being only 4 per cent, and garden, i.e., areca, etc., forming 3 per cent, while ragi averages nearly 31 per cent, and other grains including gram make up more than 52 per cent. The proportion of food to non-food (or industrial) crops stands in the ratio of 1,008 : 150.

8. Communications. —At the time of original settlement four roads with a total distance of about 80 miles were in existence. Two more roads of great importance, Sira-Amarapur road and Bukkapatna-Hagalvadi road, with a length of 30 and 7 miles respectively, have since been opened.

9. Markets.—The taluk also commands good markets both inside and outside the taluk. The most important weekly market within the taluk is that of Sira. The other two weekly markets, viz., Chikenahalli and Puttanaikanhalli supply only local needs. Of the outside markets, Amarapura on the north-east in the Madaksira Taluk and Bellavi and Tumkur in the Tumkur Taluk on the south and south-east are mentioned as being the most important.

10. Manufactures.—There is not much in the way of manufactures, weaving of kamblis, gunny tat and grass mats only being worthy of mention and deserving of encouragement.

11. Exports and imports.—Supari and rice were the two principal articles of export reported at the original settlement, their values being not less than Rs. 4,00,000 and Rs. 1,80,000 respectively, and there was also a moderate export of ragi and javari. The imports consisted of jaggory, kamblis, tobacco, iron and cloth. There must have been an appreciable improvement in the condition of the taluk since the original settlement, as the present important exports include ragi, tobacoo, togari, gram and other pulses, the less important being cocoanut, betel-leaf, ground-nut and jola. The additional articles imported at present are salt and kerosene oil. The total value of the exports and imports has not been noted, but cannot be very great.

12. Sources of irrigation.—Mr. Shama Rao has given valuable information and classified the Government tanks according to their atchakat as follows:—

	Rs.	No.
Tanks yielding revenue of more than ...	.. 1,000	17
Do ranging between...	... 1,000 & 500	50
Besides numerous other tanks yielding a revenue of below	500	...

He states that 2 of the 5 important tanks, viz., Handanahalli and Kurihalli, were constructed after the introduction of the original settlement, that two other tanks, Chikkasandra and Dodbanagere, have been improved and that the Public Works Department has during the currency of the settlement spent nearly 4½ lakhs of rupees in the restoration and construction of tanks in this taluk.

There is nothing, however, in the report to show whether the tanks usually received a sufficient supply of water and all the occupied wet lands were cultivated with wet crops and had sufficient water-supply. I believe, however, there are complaints of insufficient supply of water in the case of some of the larger tanks and there is some correspondence on the proposals of the raiyats for adding to their supply. It may be observed that it is not enough to have tanks in good order. It is equaly important to ascertain how much their beds have been silted up in recent years, whether they are capable of containing the full supply required for the atchakat and whether the rainfall and receipt of water in the tanks are up to the original forecasts. The entries in the Tank Books would have been of great help in this connection if they had been regularly written up and the results systematically collected and abstracted at the annual jamabandi settlement for purposes of record and use in future settlements.

Mr. Shama Rao observes that almost all the major tanks have been maintained in good order and that the minor tanks are not generally in a satisfactory condition and that Kallambella tank needs repairs. The attention of district officers will be drawn to these matters.

Wells.—It is stated that 2,687 irrigation wells exist in this taluk, some of which are of a temporary kind. The exact number of permanent and temporary wells is not given. The importance of the wells as forming the main-stay of the agricultural population is well recognised and due attention is being bestowed in constructing more new wells and improving the existing ones.

13. Population.—The population of the taluk as per Census of 1901 is 74,034 or 126 to the square mile. The total population having been decimated in the famine of 1877 had gone down to 49,611 during the Census of 1881 and regained its original strength only between 1891 and 1901. It is interesting to note that in the decennium from 1881 to 1891 the increase was as much as 32 per cent, (average, 3·2 per cent per annum) while in that from 1891 to 1901 after the population had reached nearly its original strength the rate of increase fell to 13 per cent or to an average of 1·3 per cent per annum.

14. Agricultural resources.—The number of tiled houses has decreased by 58 per cent. While the numbers of mud-roofed and thatched houses have increased by 41 per cent and 76 per cent respectively. The general tendency in other places is the gradual replacement of mud-roofed and thatched houses by tiled ones and this anomaly requires investigation and it will be well if the district officers could find out the true explanation of it.

Mr. Shama Rao notes with satisfaction the increases found in the number of horned cattle, sheep and goats, carts and ploughs, which show an increase of 42, 83, 234 and 44 per cent respectively as compared with the figures given at the original settlement. But it may be stated here that the statistics collected at the original settlement might not have been very accurate owing to defective registration.

15. Prices.—Mr. Shama Rao states that on a moderate calculation and taking only normal years the prices have risen from 30 to 40 per cent, and ascribes this steady rise to the strong and unfailing outside demand from Madras and Bombay Presidencies facilitated by railways and other improved means of communication.

16. Sales and mortgages.—On an examination of about 5,000 transactions in sales and mortgages extending over a period of 36 years, Mr. Shama Rao has arrived at the conclusion that the lands realised on an average 12 times the assessment in sales and 10 times the assessment in mortgages, and that the rise in the value of land is satisfactory. These are evidently transactions taken from the records of the local Registration office. It must be remembered, however, that such transactions relate only to the better class of dry, wet and garden lands which have a market value and cannot be regarded as furnishing a clue to the average value of lands in the taluk. In the absence of information as to the values prevailing previous to the last settlement, it is not easy to draw any inference as to the actual increase in value. But there can be no doubt that owing to various causes, there has been a perceptible increase in the market value of lands within the last 30 years. It would be interesting in future reports to compare average values of different descriptions of lands taking intervals of, say, 10 years or 15 years at a time.

17. Old and new area.—The total area of the 228 villages according to former survey (as per akarband) is 376,049 acres while as per resurvey the area has increased by 176 acres. The decrease of 10,465 acres in arable dry crop land has been accounted for by an increase of 2,654 acres in wet and garden and 7,987 acres under unculturable land. The net decrease of 7,811 acres (10,465—2,654) in assessed land is explained to be due to increased water-spread of tanks and channels, to the opening of new roads, cart-tracks and foot-paths and to the conversion of assessed lands, included in State Forests and date groves, into kharab.

18. Revenue history.—The continued falling off of revenue from the year following the introduction of the original settlement up to 1893-94 is accounted for by the great famine of 1876-78 and frequent years of deficient rainfall. The revenue collections were lowest in 1881-82, being Rs. 85,243, which is nearly 26 per cent less than those of 1870-71. Since 1881-82 the collections steadily improved but the improvement over the collections of 1870-71 was reached only in 1894-95 and the proportion of increase from this year to 1906-07 has been only 7 per cent. Taking the revenue under dry, garden and wet separately, it is observed that it has increased by 12·16, 1·21 and 9·20 per cent respectively. It will be seen from the extent of lands of different descriptions under occupation that the raiyats must have taken some time to realise their inability to cultivate all the lands in their holdings and must have gradually resigned some portions up to 1881-82 when after the increase of their resources and probably the rise in prices they commenced to take up lands which they had abandoned.

Excepting during the famine years, the amount of remissions granted is very small and does not call for any remark. It is satisfactory to note that the total occupied area has expanded since the last settlement by 20 per cent, the increase under dry, wet and garden separately being 19, 43 and 15 per cent respectively.

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 24th September 1909.

19. Grouping and rates.—The only change proposed in the old grouping is the transfer of two villages from the first group and 4 villages from the second group to the third group. I have no personal knowledge of the taluk, and so far as my information gathered from the papers goes, both the grouping and the rates adopted are very judicious and reasonable. My only doubt is whether in judging of the water-supply, too much value is not attached to the improvements effected to our tanks as indicated by the outlay thereon and whether the gradual silting up of the tank beds, the vicissitudes of the seasons affecting the rainfall and the supply to the tanks and on the other hand the extension of fixed wet cultivation as contrasted with the old elastic Batayi are sufficiently allowed for. But this is a large question which requires a detailed investigation and need not be gone into now. The maximum wet rates adopted are Rs. 9 and 8 and the average for the whole taluk is Rs. 3-13-1 giving an increase of Re. 0-2-2 per acre for the whole taluk. Coming to groups, however, the increased incidence in the II group is as much as Re. 0-5-2 per acre and no explanation has been offered for this. The general increase is, however, defended on the score of irrigational facilities. Considering, however, the increased cost of cultivation, the difficulty of procuring vegetable manure and the uncertainty of rainfall, it would have been better if there had been no increase in the wet rates in this taluk. On the other hand it must be observed that there has been a very welcome reduction in the garden rates in accordance with the recent policy of Government."

20. It is unnecessary to refer to the other usual details of settlement, which are fully discussed in the report and which have my approval.

21. The revision settlement as proposed may be sanctioned and authorised to be introduced as soon as possible.

No. R. 2563-73—L. S. 41-08-4, DATED BANGALORE, 24TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—The original settlement of the Sira Taluk took place in 1870. The said taluk then consisted of 228 villages, of which 213 now form the bulk of the Sira Taluk and the remaining 15 form part of the present Gubbi Taluk. The currency of the original settlement having been fixed with reference to the composition of the taluk at that time, the present proposals refer to the above 228 villages, while the rest of the Sira Taluk which consists of additions from the late Koratagere Taluk has been reserved for resettlement along with the latter.

2. According to the resurvey the total extent of land in the taluk is 376,225 acres or 176 acres more than that recorded at the time of original settlement.

3. Owing to the peculiar condition of the taluk, the general poverty of the soil and the scantiness of its annual rainfall, which varies on the average from 19·17 inches at Sira, the head-quarters of the taluk, to 22·15 inches at Bukkapatna in the south-west and 21·67 inches at Bargur in the north-east, the original rates were fixed very low. They have been found to be admirably adapted to secure the progress of the tract, and the principles upon which they were fixed have been adhered to as much as possible in the revision settlement, with the result that, in spite of considerable improvement in the material condition of the tract since the last settlement, the present proposals provide for a total increase of only Rs. 6,086 over the collections of 1906-07, or about 5 per cent.

4. The tract suffered severely from the great famine of 1876-78. Its population which according to the Census of 1871 was 71,762 fell to 49,611 at the Census of 1881. Since then, however, the population has steadily increased and numbered 74,034 at the last Census, the total increase being over 3 per cent against a general decrease of 1 per cent for the whole district. Along with the increase of population there has been an improvement in the material resources of the people, especially of the agricultural classes. The increase in the number of mud-roofed houses as compared with tiled houses need not be a cause for alarm as the former seem to be chiefly in fashion in the locality. Their number has increased by 41 per cent and that of thatched houses by 96 per cent. There has been an increase of 234 per cent in the number of carts and satisfactory increase in the number of ploughs and other agricultural stock. There are three weekly markets, the most important being Sira in which a brisk trade in paddy for export is carried on. The nearest Railway Station, Tumkur, is only 16 miles from the southern boundary of the tract and furnishes a convenient outlet for its produce. Road communications have also been considerably improved since the last settlement, the most important addition being the connection of Sira with Amrapur in the British Territory.

5. Considerable attention has also been paid to the development of the irrigational resources of the tract. Almost every village of any importance is stated to have at least one tank of its own. Seventeen tanks yield a revenue of more than Rs. 1,000 each. Of these, two were constructed after the introduction of the original settlement and two others were improved. The Public Works Department is reported to have spent 4½ lakhs in restoring and improving tanks in the tract during the last thirty years. There are also 2,687 irrigation wells. It is not known how many of these have been constructed since the introduction of the original settlement and though there seems to be still considerable scope for their extension it appears that the people are fully alive to the importance of paying special attention to the facilities which these wells afford for the improvement of their irrigational resources and the extension of garden cultivation.

Land has also increased in value and the tract has benefited by the general rise in prices of agricultural produce.

6. The result is that, in spite of the unfavourable anticipations at the time of the original settlement and large relinquishments of land during the great famine, there has been a satisfactory increase in the occupied area, which at the time of the original settlement was 119,007 acres but has since increased to 143,198 acres according to the resurvey. The expansion is most noticeable under garden cultivation, being as much as 1,417 acres. There is still a large extent of unoccupied assessed waste, viz., 68,125 acres. The bulk of it is dry, and, being on the margin of cultivation, is not likely to be taken up on a large scale in ordinary circumstances.

7. For purposes of assessment the villages in the taluk have been classified into four groups as at the original settlement except in the case of six villages which have been brought lower down. The maximum dry crop rates for these groups are Rs. 1-10-0, 1-8-0, 1-5-0, and Re. 1 respectively. The wet maximum rate is Rs. 9 for groups I and II and Rs. 8 for groups III and IV as at the original settlement. The maximum rate for gardens has been reduced from Rs. 16 to 10 and well gardens have been assessed on the lines laid down in Government Order No. R. 3138-46—R. F. 8 of 1900, dated the 24th January 1902. The extremely liberal policy adopted in the case of gardens has resulted in a decrease in the total assessment of Rs. 11,334 or more than 20 per cent. In the case of tank gardens the decrease per acre is Rs. 2-2-4 or 27 per cent and for well gardens it is Rs. 1-8-3 or 46 per cent, while new gardens formed since the original settlement have been assessed at either the maximum or the ordinary dry crop rates according to their situation.

8. The average old and new rates on the occupied area are as shown below:—

	Old Rs.	New Rs.
Dry	0 4 8	0 6 2
Wet	3 10 11	3 13 1
Garden	5 12 1	3 14 8

9. The average rate per acre for the whole tract has been slightly raised from Re. 0-13-1 to 0-14-5.

10. The resettlement practically leaves the assessment at the figure which it had attained in 1906-07 if allowance is made for the incorporation of the water rate with the wet assessment and is characterized by great moderation. Government are therefore pleased to sanction the proposals of the Superintendent of Revenue Survey, which are concurred in by the Revenue Commissioner.

Revenue (Land Survey), dated 24th September 1909.

11. The revised rates will be subject to the usual guarantee of 30 years. The rates will be announced during the ensuing cold season and will take effect from the year 1910-11. A notification to this effect will be published in the Gazette.

12. In the resurvey 21,626 old survey numbers have been converted into 23,908 new survey numbers showing an increase of 2,282 or 10·5 per cent. Government regret to note that the resurvey work was greatly impeded by the large number of boundary marks and stones that had to be replaced, and trust that the measures taken by the local Revenue authorities to prevent such extra work during resurvey will be more effective in the other taluks.

13. In conformity with the general principle, adopted in all revision settlement operations hitherto, of not disturbing the soil classification wherever possible, the original soil classification has been maintained, only the classification of wet and garden lands having been revised. Government therefore consider that there will not be much use in giving information of total areas under different known varieties of soil in the revision settlement reports as suggested by the Revenue Commissioner. As regards tanks, the Government rely on the officers of the Revenue and Public Works Departments, with the co-operation of the raiyats in most cases, to make sustained and continuous exertions to maintain all tanks in fair working order, and the Survey Department is concerned with noting the actual condition of water-supply at the time of the classification and making such revision of assessment as may be necessary. It would be very useful for the Survey Department in the reclassification of water-supply to have statistics regarding the quantity of water received by the tanks in each year, the area cultivated and cropped and the outturn. If these statistics are not regularly collected, the Revenue Commissioner should take the needful steps to have them collected in future.

2. Also Government Proceedings No. R. 4015-55, dated the 21st June 1904, issuing instructions in the matter of taking the second quinquennial census of cattle in accordance with the above Order.

3. Correspondence ending with letter No. 2059, dated the 11th August 1909, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, regarding the combination of the census of the agricultural stock with the forthcoming General Census.

No. R. 1918-26—AGRI. 20-09-3, DATED BANGALORE, 1ST SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—In accordance with the scheme laid down in Government Proceedings No. 7601-615—R. F. 46-97-8, dated the 24th April 1899, for the holding of a quinquennial census of agricultural stock in the State, the third quinquennial census falls due during the current calendar year. The next decennial census of the population of the State has to be held early in 1911, and as the preliminary arrangements for the numbering of houses, for the appointment of enumerators and supervisors and the preparation of the preliminary records of buildings, occupants, etc., block by block, are the same for both the censuses, Government consulted the Revenue Commissioner and other officers as to the advisability of combining the next census of agricultural stock with the forthcoming Preliminary General Census. The Revenue Commissioner calculating that the cattle census will have to come off in January 1911, is of opinion that as that is the time when, owing to feasts and festivals, cattle are likely to have been moved from their houses, it is desirable to hold a separate census of agricultural stock during November of the current year and that there is a special necessity for such a census this year as the adverse seasonal conditions of recent years and the prevalence of epidemic diseases have caused great mortality among cattle. He suggests, however that if the census of agricultural stock is to be postponed, the Deputy Commissioners should be requested to pay special attention to the enumeration of cattle during the ordinary Khaneshmari of this year and compile and publish results for each district.

2. On a consideration of the opinions that have been advanced, it appears that it will be quite possible to combine the census of agricultural stock with the Preliminary General Census to be held in November or December 1910 and thus secure with little cost a more correct record of agricultural statistics than could be collected through the ordinary village agency or even by means of a special census held for the purpose during the current year. The figures themselves will be of great use in interpreting the results of the General Census in their bearing on the social and agricultural conditions of the State.

3. Under these circumstances, Government are pleased to direct that the next census of agricultural stock be held in conjunction with the forthcoming Preliminary General Census. Further instructions will be issued at the time as to the manner in which the two should be combined and the results published.

4. As it will be some time before these statistics can be available, Government are also pleased to direct that a careful enumeration of agricultural stock be also made during the current year's Khaneshmari and the results published districtwar with a review, as proposed by the Revenue Commissioner.

"With reference to your letter No. R. 18—Agri. 38-08, dated 2nd July 1909, and in continuation of my letter No. D. 25, dated 2nd July 1909, regarding the arrangements made for taking prompt measurements of work done with a view to facilitate payment of subsequent instalments of loans already promised, I have the honor to submit herewith for the information of Government copies of the marginally noted communications received from Deputy Commissioners. It will be seen therefrom that "Jareeb" of work is generally taken by Irrigation Well Mestris, Tank, Work or Sanitary Inspectors or qualified shekdars and that the works are usually inspected by the Amildars and other superior officers also in districts like Kolar and Tumkur, where these loans have been sanctioned on a large scale. Although this latter precaution may at times lead to some little delay, I am of opinion that it is nevertheless indispensable, especially in cases where the amounts to be advanced are large, as it would never do to place implicit reliance on the reports of low-paid subordinates in such cases."

ORDER THEREON.—Recorded.

2. Where loans of large amounts are sanctioned it is desirable that rough plans of the works undertaken should be obtained and filed with the loan records as is being done in the Kolar District.

3. It is presumed that the inspection and measurement of works are not left entirely to Amildars and their subordinates and that a fair percentage of the estimates and bills is being tested by the Sub-Divisional Officers and Deputy Commissioners.

4. The Government trust that the provisions contained in Rules XXXI and XXXII of the General Rules framed under Section 10 of the Land Improvement Loans Regulation, are being strictly enforced.

The following papers relating to the settlement of the Kakanhasudi Forest in the Shimoga District :—

(1) Letter No. 105, dated the 30th October 1908, from the Forest Settlement Officer in Mysore :—

"I have the honor to report the conclusion of the settlement of the Kakanhasudi Forest in the Shimoga Taluk of the Shimoga District.

The initial notification under Section 4 of the Mysore Forest Regulation, proposing to constitute the area as a State Forest appeared on pages 133 and 134 of the Mysore Gazette, Part I, English, dated the 28th February 1907, and the proclamation required under Section 5 of the said Regulation was issued by me on the 30th March 1907 and the same appeared on pages 93 and 94, Part II, Kanarese Gazette, dated 4th April 1907.

The proclamatory notices were duly served on the villagers concerned through the Amildar of Shimoga Taluk, and the locality was inspected and perambulated by me in company with the District Forest Officer and the Amildar on the 19th February 1908. I also held an enquiry into the rights and privileges of the villagers under Section 7 of the Regulation. None of the raiyats are willing to the reservation being made except those of Hurlihalli, which is a bechirakh village, but from what I heard from them and saw of them, the opposition to the reservation seemed to me to emanate mainly from the fear of future annoyances and trouble from the Forest subordinates. After discussing the matter with the District Forest Officer and the Amildar and after consulting the village statistics, I came to know that there is enough of other pasture land for the cattle of the villages whose lands are now appropriated to the State Forest, and I do not think any concession in this respect is needed for any of the villages; and I have, therefore, confirmed the proposal after excluding an extent of 729 acres.

The villagers also represented that they required dry wood for fuel and some green wood for jaggory-boiling, and the District Forest Officer in his memo (copy enclosed) expressed his willingness to allow green wood to be taken in specified coupes, and I have accordingly permitted the villagers to take dry wood for fuel and green wood for jaggory-boiling.

The time allowed for the preference of appeal expired on the 30th June 1908 and the Deputy Commissioner has intimated in his letter No. 152, dated 16th July 1908, that some villagers presented an appeal to him on the 14th July 1908 and that he rejected the same as being time-barred.

The following records are herewith submitted :—

1. B Register.
2. C Register.
3. Sketch map.
4. Boundary notification and
5. Topo tracing.

The date from which the reservation has to take effect may be inserted in the Draft Boundary Notification.

MEMO.

Kakanhasudi Reserve forms partly the catchment area of river Tunga, situated as it is, on its bank. It is clad with valuable kinds of trees chiefly teak, nandi, and beete sparsely sprinkled with sandal. These forests are being fast denuded by unregulated fellings by raiyats, many of whom hack and destroy much more than they reasonably require for their bona fide purposes.

Under the circumstances, immediate reservation of the notified area, defining the claims of the villagers, who have been exercising their privileges, is very essential in their own interest and that of their posterity, omitting other benefits either climatic or agricultural, that accrue from the conservation of this valuable property.

With this view, it is desirable to define the rights and requirements of the adjoining villagers and those of Holalur, regarding their grazing and fuel needs. The demand for grazing by the villagers in the neighbourhood may freely be conceded, as also dry fuel. Green fuel needs to be limited to the unclassified kinds, when the whole block will be subjected to a rational method of working, by dividing it into suitable working circles and annual coupes and prescribing a systematic management only to lead to an equalised sustained yield primarily in the interest of right holder and secondarily that of Department."

(2) Letter No. 8980, dated the 5th March 1909, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, forwarding the settlement papers and stating that he has no objection to the issue of the final notification.

(3) Letter No. 9072, dated the 26th April 1909, from the Conservator of Forests in Mysore, pointing out certain discrepancies in the settlement registers and stating that the Forest Settlement Officer has allowed certain undesirable concessions to the raiyats.

(4) Letter No. 28, dated the 26th July 1909, from the Forest Settlement Officer, returning the settlement papers duly effecting the corrections pointed out by the Conservator and explaining that the fact of the inclusion of certain lands of Hurlihalli and Kaitotlu in the Chornedahalli State Forest was not brought to his notice at the time of the settlement.

1	Puttappa, patel of Kaitotlu, on behalf of the villagers.	19th February 1908...	States that the raiyats do not want any portion of their village to be reserved. They want free grazing and wood for fuel free of cost.	.....	The proposed portion consists of reserved kind of wood and it may not be excluded. Wood for fuel may be given free in the State Forest.	Kaitotlu village has a population of 48 with 79 cattle. The area proposed by the Forest Department is 260 acres out of kharab Survey No. 11, 440 acres out of kharab Survey No. 12, 300 acres out of gomal Survey No. 21, and 20 acres out of gomal Survey No. 10. The total area under kharab and gomal is 848 acres and 26 guntas and 731 acres 14 guntas respectively. After deducting the proposed area, there remains 148 acres and 26 guntas of kharab and 411 acres and 14 guntas of gomal which is more than enough for the grazing of the cattle. To avoid the edge of cultivation 70 acres in Survey No. 21 (kharab) and 20 acres in Survey No. 10 (gomal) are excluded from the reserve and the rest taken to the forest. They are also permitted to take dry wood for fuel and unreserved kind of wood and thorns for agricultural purposes free of cost. (Sd.) M. 2	Narnappa, patel of Sarigere, on behalf of the raiyats.	Do.	Raiyats represent that they would be put to much trouble if reservation is made, even though they are granted free grazing and permission to take dry wood for fuel, free of cost.	.....	There is no objection to give them the concession after reserving the proposed area. The area of 77 acres to the north-east of hill in Survey No. 28 may be excluded.	The portion proposed by the Forest Department consists of good growth of teak, mandy, etc., trees and therefore it is essential to reserve. As agreed to by the District Forest Officer, the proposal is confirmed, after excluding 77 acres out of Survey No 28, i.e., to the north-east of the hill, for grazing and for watering their cattle in tank Survey No. 14. There is no need for free grazing, the area of gomal left being 80 acres for 35 cattle. The raiyats

3	Narnappa, patel of Gaudhal, on behalf of the villagers.	19th February 1908...	States that it would be much inconvenient to the raiyats, if the proposed area is included, even after granting the concessions of free grazing and of removing firewood free of cost.	..	As no gomal is proposed to be reserved in this village, there will be no inconvenience to the raiyats, and therefore the proposal may be confirmed.	This is a small village consisting of 5 raiyats with 73 cattle. The Forest Department has proposed only 165 acres out of khurab Survey Nos. 7 and 1 see no reason why the raiyats object to the reservation, when there is 238 acres of gomal. I therefore confirm the proposal and permit the raiyats to take dry wood for fuel and unreserved kind of wood and thorns for agricultural purposes, free of cost. (Sd.) M. Shama Rao, Forest Settlement Officer. 11th March 1908.
4	Narnappa, patel of Hurlihalli, on behalf of the raiyats.	Do ...	Represents that the villagers have no objection to reserve the proposed area.	...	The proposal may be confirmed, as the villagers raised no objection.	The proposal of the Forest Department is confirmed, as this is a Bechurak village. (Sd.) M. 5	Gurusiddappa, patel of Neile village.	Do ..	He does not want any portion of the land to be reserved as the balance would be insufficient for his purposes.		May be excluded ...	195 acres proposed by the Forest Department are excluded from the reserve as agreed to by the District Forest Officer. (Sd). M. 6	Thimmaiya, patel of Kakanhusudi, on behalf of the raiyats.	Do ...	The raiyats say that they do not want any reservation, as it would cause much handship for their agricultural purposes, even after concessions of free grazing and to take firewood free of cost are granted.	...	This area contains reserved kinds of trees such as nandi, beete and mutti, etc., and also stunted growth of sandal and bamboo bushes and hence this may not be excluded.	On my inspection also, I found that this portion is worth reserving as it contains reserved kinds of trees and therefore the proposal is confirmed by excluding 5 acres in S. No. 11 and 20 acres in S. No 9 for expansion of cultivation. The raiyats are also permitted to take dry wood for fuel and unreserved kind of wood and thorns for agricultural purposes free of cost. (Sd). M. Shama Rao, Forest Settlement Officer. 11th March 1908.

Thimmaiya, patel fo Lingapur, on behalf of the village—	19th February 1908...	States that the raiyats are not willing for reservation though they are given free concessions of grazing and of taking firewood.		The partial S. No. 15 may be excluded and the rest may be reserved.	This village has contributed all of its kharab, and during my inspection also I found that the area of gomal left to the raiyats does not seem to yield good grass. As agreed to by the District Forest Officer the partial S. No. 15 will be excluded from the reserve and the rest taken to the Forest. The raiyats are permitted to take dry wood for fuel and unreserved kinds of wood and thorns for agricultural purposes, free of cost. (Sd). M. Shama Rao, Forest Settlement Officer. 11th March 1908.
Thimmaiya, patel of Shadmajihosur, on behalf of the raiyats.	19th February 1908...	Do		One S. No. 22 may be left to the raiyats and the other included in the forest.	The raiyats represent that they do not get good grass in the area left to them after reservation and the statistics also show that these are the only two big numbers in the village. If both the survey numbers are reserved, the raiyats will be deprived of grazing right and therefore I order that only one survey number, i.e., 7, be included in the forest. The raiyats are permitted to take dry wood for fuel and unreserved kind of wood and thorns for agricultural purposes free of cost. (Sd.) M. Shama Rao, Forest Settlement Officer. 11th March 1908.
Navalappa, patel of Umbalihail, on behalf of the raiyats.	19th February 1908...	The villagers' request is that no land may be reserved even after granting them free grazing and to take firewood free.		The proposal may be confirmed as this village will have enough of kharab and gomal after reservation.	The number of cattle in this village is 290 and the gomal left to them after reservation will be 1,038 acres and 7 guntas The area left to them is more than sufficient for the grazing of 290 cattle according to the Revenue Survey calculation, (viz., 30 acres for 100 head). The raiyats are permitted to take dry wood for fuel and unreserved kind of wood and thorns for agricultural purposes, free of cost. (Sd.) M. Shama Rao, Forest Settlement Officer. 11th March 1908.

Forest, dated 3rd September 1909.

10	The rayats of 1. Unbhilbail 2. Kaitolin 3. Sargere 4. Ganedhal 5. Kakanhasudi 6. Shidnajihosur and Lingapur.	19th February 08	They in a body, claim right to take green wood for jaggery-boiling, in the State Forest, free, as they have been enjoying this privilege from a long time.	The District Forest Officer has agreed to allow green wood to be taken by the rayats, in specified coupes.	From the enquiries made by me I have found that the rayats of the villages mentioned in Column 2 have been bringing green wood for jaggery-boiling, from this reserve. As agreed to by the District Forest Officer, the villagers are permitted to take green wood for jaggery-boiling in specified coupes, on a permit to be given by the Amildar fixing the quantity required for purposes of jaggery-boiling. (Sd.) M. Shama Rao. Forest Settlement Officer. 11th March 1906.
11	Rudrappa, patel of Holalur, on behalf of the villagers.	21th February 08 ...	States that the rayats of Holalur, Byderhosahalli, Sargur, Gullapur, Guruvikatte, Kadli and other villages go to Aukanhasudi reserve to bring firewood, fencing material, and wood for agricultural purposes and green wood for jaggery-boiling. There is no jungle except this, and requests, therefore, that these concessions may be ordered to be continued in the State Forest, free of cost.	Do ...	From the enquiries made by me, I have also found that the inhabitants of Holalur, Byderhosahalli, Sargur, Gullapura, Guruvikatte and Kadli have long enjoyed an undefined right of taking green wood for jaggery-boiling from the tract a portion of which is now proposed for inclusion in the State Forest. I have consulted the Amildar of Shimoga, Mr. Venkatramiah and he supports the contention of the rayats that the jungle around Unbhilyle is the only forest they have for taking fuel, etc., for their purposes. The District Forest Officer, Mr. Ponnusami Mudaliar, who was present throughout my inspection and enquiry, has no objection to certain concessions being given to the rayats. These concessions are, in my opinion, essential and I accordingly direct that the above-named villagers should be allowed to take dry wood for fuel, unreserved kind of wood and thorns for agricultural purposes free of cost as at present, and green wood for jaggery-boiling to be taken in specified coupes on a permit to be given by the Amildar mentioning the quantity required for purposes of jaggery-boiling. (Sd.) M. Shama Rao, Forest Settlement Officer. 11th March 1906.

N. B.—It has not been possible to fix the quantities of fuel, etc., to be taken by the rayats, as they depend upon the extent of their operations; and in practice I am assured that the recognition of a right which cannot from the nature of circumstances be defined in precise terms will lead to no inconvenience either to the Forest Department or to the rayats.

(Sd.) M. Shama Rao,
Forest Settlement Officer.

READ—

Letter No. 7667—T. A. 94, dated 28th June 1909, from the Comptroller to Government on the subject of the transfer of inferior servants and the grant of travelling allowance to them for the journeys consequent thereon :—

"I have the honor to state that under Section II of Chapter XXXIV of the Mysore Service Regulations regulating the travelling allowance of officers for journeys on transfer, no travelling allowance is admissible to an officer in inferior service, on change of appointment, except under the special or general orders of the Government. And this power of sanction reserved by Government has been delegated to the head of only one Department, viz., the Medical, and that too, only in the case of the travelling allowance bills of compounders on transfer. But it is seen from the travelling allowance bills received in this office that, in some Departments of Government, inferior servants are frequently transferred from one district to another, and sometimes to far off districts. And it is but fair to presume that such transfers involve extra expenditure on these poor low-paid officials. At the same time, it may not be desirable on the part of the Government to absolutely prohibit the transfer of such officials.

The general rule in British India on the subject of travelling allowance to this class of officers on transfer, was, till the middle of last year, just the same as it is in Mysore now. But since then, the Government of India have ruled that inferior servants should not be transferred save in exceptional cases in which there may be special reasons for a transfer, and they have so altered the original article in the Civil Service Regulations that, when transferred under such circumstances, the officers in inferior service get travelling allowances for such journeys. The change in the rule is, I think, a very desirable one inasmuch as it expressly provides against unnecessary transfers without at the same time entailing hardship on the officers transferred, and I therefore request that you will be good enough to obtain the sanction of the Government for its adoption in the Mysore Service Regulations."

No. FL. 1554-94—S. & A. 49-08-2, DATED BANGALORE, 8TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—Under the circumstances brought to notice by the Comptroller, the Government of His Highness the Maharaja are pleased to sanction the following alterations :—

(1) Article 615, Mysore Service Regulations and the exception to it—to be cancelled.

(2) Article 606, Mysore Service Regulations—the words "In Superior Service" in the first line of this article to be omitted. The following sentence to be inserted at the end of the article : "Inferior Servants should not be transferred, save in exceptional cases in which there may be special reasons for a transfer."

2. The Comptroller is requested to issue the necessary corrigenda to the Mysore Service Regulations.

Government Order No. Fl. 3565-605—S. & A. 150-08-1, dated the 13th February 1909, amending Article 580, Mysore Service Regulations.

No. Fl. 1833-73—S. & A. 437-08-7, dated Bangalore, 30th September 1909.

Order thereon.—The Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore are pleased to direct that Article 580 of the Mysore Service Regulations as introduced by the Order read above be revised as follows :—

(a) Omit Explanation 2.

(b) Omit the last four words of Note 2 and put a full stop after the word "place."

The article as now amended will be as follows :—

"580. A daily allowance may not be drawn for more than ten days of a halt at one place. But Government may exempt any officer from the operation of this rule in special cases in which it is satisfied that the prolonged halt was necessary in the interests of the public service and that the officer was put to extra expense by his halt after the expiration of the first ten days. This exemption may also be made by a general rule in the case of certain classes of officers.

Explanation 1.—An officer who halts for more than ten days at a place, may, after he ceases to draw the daily allowance, draw travelling allowance under the ordinary rules applicable to him for any journey made on one day from and to the halting-place, if he reaches a point more than five miles distant from it. A halt is not interrupted for the purpose of this article by an absence on duty from the place of halting for less than three nights.

Exception 1.—This article is not applicable to menial servants.

2. The halts made by the Mycologist and Entomologist and his establishment for purposes of Koleroga experiments are exempt from the operation of this rule.

Note 1.—The officers employed on Railway Survey Work may be exempted from the operation of the rule contained in this article.

Note 2.—The State Geologist may pass allowances for halts of more than ten days at one place.

Note 3.—(a) The following is the list of officers who are exempted from the operation of the rule contained in this article :—

(i) All officers on duty in connection with the Dasara functions (which term includes the meetings of the Representative Assembly) and the Birthday Festivities at Mysore.

N.B.— In the case of officers who draw travelling allowances on their own bills, without countersignature, full daily allowance will be passed from the first day of the Dasara to the day after the last day of the Representative Assembly Meetings, and from the first day of the Birthday Festivities to the day after the last day. In the case of other officers, the countersigning officer should exercise his discretion as to the number of days during which a halt was necessary, the Audit Office accepting such countersignature without question.

(ii) The Dewan and Councillors and their personal staff and Secretariat officers and officials.

(b) Full daily allowance at the ordinary rates shall be passed to the above officers for halts of over ten days at one place without the special sanction of Government."

The following reports from District Magistrates on the working of the Mysore Factories Regulation and the rules framed thereunder in their districts during the calendar year 1908:—

(1) Letters No. 316, dated the 3rd March 1909, (2) No. 359-S, dated the 3rd April 1909, (3) No. 670—J. 53, dated the 17th June 1909, and (4) No. 860, dated the 24th June 1909, from the District Magistrates of Kadur, Hassan, Shimoga and Tumkur Districts, respectively, stating that there were no factories in their districts during the year 1908.

(2) Letter No. 359, dated the 8th March 1909, from the District Magistrate, Chitaldrug District, stating that there was no factory in the district as defined in the Regulation and that the Government in their Notification No. J. 1896—Legis. 23-08, dated the 6th June 1909, accorded sanction to the three factories working at Davangere being brought under the scope of the Factories Regulation.

(3) Letter No. 529, dated the 9th March 1909, from the District Magistrate of Mysore :—

"I have the honour to submit herewith the following report for the calendar year 1908 on the working of the Mysore Factories Regulation, IV of 1892, and the rules framed thereunder:—

Number of factories and their situation.

There is only one factory, viz., Matheson's Works, having three departments, viz., (a) Coffee-curing (b) Manure-crushing and (c) Saw-mills, in the Hunsur Taluk of this district, registered under Rule 4 from the 1st day of April 1906. The description and system of working are the same as in the last year and there is no change in other respects also.

Strength.

2. The daily average attendance of operatives during the year are as follows :—

		Males	Females	Total
Adults	...	36	33	69
Children	...	15	5	20
		51	38	89

No children under nine years of age are employed in the factory.

Hours of business.

3. The working hours are generally from 7 A.M. to 12 noon and from 1 to 5 P.M. and on special occasions males do work from 7 to 9 P.M. for which extra pay at a quarter or half the daily wages is allowed.

The factory is closed on Sundays and two hours' interval is allowed on Thursdays to enable coolies to purchase provisions in the shandy on Thursdays.

Guard against danger.

4. There are sufficient means of exit for the workmen to get over in case of fire and a water-pump is ready for use in case of emergency, and men have been trained in use of the same. All dangerous machinery are railed off. The different machines are covered over and the belts of machinery are underground and all precautions are taken for the safety of people working or having business there.

Sanitation.

5. (a) Drinking water is good, filtered and supplied through taps.

(b) Separate suitable latrines, two for males and two for females, have been provided within the compound of the premises and arrangements are made for clearing these. The Assistant Commissioner and 1st Class Magistrate has remarked in his report that arrangements are made to remove the night-soil, but a cistern is needed behind the latrines for the collection of urine and other liquid matters.

(c) The sanitary arrangements are fair and the instructions of the medical authorities are carried out as far as practicable.

(d) The general health of the operatives is below the normal owing to climatic condition though the Manager has made all medical and sanitary arrangements possible.

(e) The factory buildings have zinc and other roofing and kept well ventilated and the walls are clear and in good condition.

Accidents.

6. In the month of June there was an accident. A male adult cut his hand in the circular saw mill and he was removed to hospital where he died. The deceased is reported to have carelessly and roughly handled the machine which resulted in his death. The machine is sufficiently covered over.

7. The registers prescribed in Notification No. 8625—Legis. 63, dated 4th January 1901, especially the C. D. E. registers are not maintained. The Manager has explained to the 1st Class Magistrate in charge of the Division that they were intended for mill hands and cotton factories and as no cotton works are turned out here, the registers are not kept. A register, though not in the prescribed form, is maintained to show the names of artizans masons, men coolies, etc., and the amount of wages paid to them.

Registers maintained.

The returns prescribed in Government Order No. 848, dated 27th October 1903, are being submitted monthly to the District Magistrate by the Manager. No case was reported under the Factories Regulation. The working was on the whole satisfactory.

Returns.

9. The factory was inspected by the Amildar in March, by the Assistant Commissioner and 1st Class Magistrate in April, by the District Magistrate in May and by the District Medical and Sanitary Officer in December 1908. The local medical Apothecary inspected the factory four or five times a month."

Inspection.

(4) Letter No. 6739—230, dated the 17th March 1909, from the District Magistrate, Kolar, stating that there was only one factory in his district, viz., the Sugar Factory at Goribidnur owned by the South Indian Industrials, Limited, and that it worked satisfactorily between the 25th June and 22nd December 1908, when it was stopped for want of raw materials.

(5) Letter No. S. 524, dated the 19th April 1909, from the District Magistrate of Bangalore :—

"I have the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Mysore Factories Regulation, IV of 1892, and the Rules framed thereunder for the calendar year 1908 :—

1. There are only two mills in the City falling under the Regulation, i.e., (1) the Bangalore Woollen, Cotton and Silk Mills Co., Limited, and (2) the Mysore Spinning and Manufacturing Company, Limited; the former continues to be under the agency of Messrs. Binny and Co., of Madras, and the latter under that of Messrs. N. Sirur & Co., of Bombay. They are situated in the same places as in the year previous.

2. The prescribed registers under the Regulation have been maintained and written up to date. Copies of the Regulation and rules and notice of working hours of the mills have been posted at the entrance of the premises as required by the Regulation. When the registers were examined, it was found that the headings in the "C" Register maintained by the Mysore Spinning and Manufacturing Company were not in accordance with those prescribed in Government Order No. 8626—Legis. 69, dated the 4th January 1901. Necessary instructions have been given to the Agent in the matter.

3. There has not been much improvement in the sanitary arrangements made in the Binny Mills. A lot of rubbish was heaped up near the latrine and other parts of the mill premises. This was pointed out to the Manager during my inspection in the previous year but he does not seem to have attended to it. He has, however, been instructed again to have the rubbish removed early. The sanitary condition of the Sirur Mills may be said to be satisfactory when compared with that of Binny Mills. Two 1"-bore taps supplying drinking water for the use of the operatives have been provided within the Binny Mills and drinking water is supplied to the workmen in the said mills from a public fountain situated at some distance from the main buildings. The agent of the latter mill, who was asked to have taps introduced within the premises, says that he was not able to have it done in spite of his repeated requisition to the Engineering Department. As for washing purposes, tank water is used in both the mills.

4. Night-soil is said to be removed twice a day in the Binny Mills and once in the Sirur Mills.

5. There is sufficient means of exit for the workmen to clear out in case of fire in both the mills. There are five iron staircases in the Binny Mills and two escapes in the Mysore Spinning and Manufacturing Company, Limited. The Binny Mills have been provided with 19 hydrants of 3" bore to quench fire, if there be any, in any part of the mills. Similarly, the Sirur Mills have also been provided with a fire-engine, with buckets and 20 hydrants for the purpose.

6. Whitewashing was done in the Mysore Spinning and Manufacturing Co., Ltd., in February 1908, and in the Binny Mills in September 1907. The machinery and mill gearing have been properly fenced and protected.

Judicial and Legislative (Legislation), dated 1st September 1909.

7. The accompanying statement will show the daily average number of operatives employed in the two mills. Including adults and children of both sexes, it was 968 in the Binny Mills and 737 in the Sirur Mills during the year 1908, as against 1,016 and 706, respectively, in the year previous. The number of operatives that were present on the inspection day was 1,239 in the Binny Mills and 785 in the Sirur Mills. The workmen were found to be generally healthy in both the mills. Children under nine years are not employed and those that are admitted have all been certified by the District Medical Officer as required by Section 5 of the Regulation, and the results are entered in a general register opened for the purpose wherein the signature of the doctor is also taken. The working hours of the mills are from 6 A.M. to 6 P.M. with an hour's midday rest in the former mills and half an hour's midday rest in the latter mills. Children do not seem to be allowed to clean the machinery nor made to overwork. The school attached to the Binny Mills has got two qualified teachers and provides some education to children in their vernacular language (Tamil). There were 14 boys and 36 girls present in the school when I inspected the mills, though there are 102 children on the roll, but I am told that some attend in the mornings and some in the afternoon. A small free dispensary is also attached to the Binny Mills with a dresser in charge, the company's doctor attending twice a week to see to the health of the workmen.

8. The mills are not worked on Sundays. General and Hindu holidays are allowed to the workmen. But when a holiday is granted on any week day, they are made to work on the next Sunday in exchange.

9. There were two accidents in the Binny Mills and five in the Sirur Mills, owing to the carelessness of the operatives themselves; hence no prosecutions were instituted during the year under report. Binny Mills continue to work with electricity and the quantity of power used is five hundred horse-power and the Sirur Mills are worked with steam power and the quantity of power used here is 500 N. H. P.

10. The flour mill attached to the Sirur Mills is said to be working well."

Judicial and Legislative (Legislation), dated 1st September 1909.

No. J. 659-66—Legis. 32-08-9, dated Bangalore, 1st September 1909.

Order thereon.—The number of factories in the State in the year 1908, was four, viz., two in the Bangalore District, one in the Mysore District and one in the Kolar District.

2. Sanitary arrangements.—The sanitary arrangements obtaining in these factories appear to have been satisfactory except in the Bangalore Woollen, Cotton and Silk Manufacturing Company, Limited. Government regret to note that a similar report was made in respect of this factory by the District Magistrate in his report for 1907. The District Magistrate is requested to enforce the provisions of Section 15 of the Regulation and of Rule 7 of the Rules framed thereunder in the case of this factory and report the result in due course.

3. Employment of women and children.—Women and children are employed in all the factories except in the sugar factory at Goribidnur. Women are allowed an hour's rest in the factory at Hunsur, which works for nine hours, but this interval is slightly below the minimum prescribed by Section 6. Government remarked in their review for 1907, that in the two Mills at Bangalore the provisions of this section were not being observed. There has been no improvement in this respect during the year 1908, and the District Magistrate has omitted to state what action was taken by him in the matter. He is requested to supply the omission by a special report to be submitted at an early date. In future reports, District Magistrates should furnish specific information as to whether the provisions of Sections 6 to 8 of the Regulation are duly observed in each factory.

4. Maintenance of registers.—It is reported by the District Magistrate of Mysore that the owner of the factory at Hunsur has not been keeping the "C, D and E" Registers prescribed under Rule 16 of the Rules issued under the Factories Regulation, on the ground that his factory is not a "Cotton Factory." Government are unable to understand the explanation as that rule lays down no such limitation and is applicable to all factories alike. The District Magistrate is requested to see that the registers are opened and maintained in future.

5. Accidents.—The total number of accidents in all the factories was 8, against 7 in the previous year, of which one ended fatally. All the accidents are ascribed to the carelessness of operatives.

6. Prosecutions.—No prosecutions were instituted under the Regulation during the year under report.

7. Inspections.—The factory at Hunsur was inspected four times during the year and each of the factories in Bangalore and Kolar Districts was inspected only once. The attention of the District Magistrates of these districts is drawn to the provisions of Rule 8, which prescribes a minimum in regard to the number of inspections that have to be made in one year.

Correspondence ending with letter No. 792—50, dated the 19th July 1909, from the Inspector-General of Education in Mysore, recommending increases of grants to certain Mission Schools which have suffered loss of income by the abolition of school fees, as in Government Schools.

No. 2242-3—Ed. 290-08-6, dated Bangalore, 6th September 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—The Inspector-General has submitted a list of 27 Aided Mission Schools, 26 maintained by the Wesleyan Mission and one by the London Mission, for which he recommends increases of monthly grants at an additional cost of Rs. 80 per mensem. Sanction is accorded to an increase of Rs. 5 per mensem to the present grant of Rs. 35 paid to the London Mission Anglo-Vernacular School at Anekal. As regards the increases of grants to the remaining 26 schools, all of which are maintained by the Wesleyan Mission, it is observed that the grants paid to most of these schools at present are more than what are allowable by the rules only while, in a very few cases, are the grants little less. The Government are not, therefore, prepared to sanction any further grants to these schools, except in the case of No. 14, Wesleyan Mission School, Main Street, Gubbi, for which a grant of Rs. 5 is sanctioned, as recommended by the Inspector-General of Education.

(1) Letter No. 9296—617, dated the 15th April 1909, from the Inspector-General of Education in Mysore, proposing the establishment of a permanent Educational Museum at Bangalore:—

I have the honour to inform you that for the last Dasara Educational Exhibition, I requested the Board of Education of England in my letter No. 8606—1593, dated the 16th April 1908, to be kind enough to make a collection of the most characteristic exhibits of the work of Elementary and Higher Elementary Schools in England and make a present of them to the Mysore Department as the nucleus of a permanent Educational Museum or a series of annual Educational Exhibitions. The Board of Education very kindly consented to organise an Educational Exhibition of Elementary and Higher Elementary Schools. Copies of my letter to Dr. H. Frank Heath of the Board of Education and his reply are herewith enclosed. Mr. Arthur Trench, Assistant Director of Special Inquiries and Reports, was entrusted with the work of collecting the exhibits. He worked with great zeal and got up a most valuable exhibition such as I have not known to be got together for any part of India. Copies of his letter dated 11th August 1908, as well as the circular, he sent to all important English schools are also enclosed herewith (not printed). The great importance and value of the collection made by him may be judged from a copy of the catalogue which I forward herewith.

2. The exhibits so kindly sent out by the Board of Education are invaluable. It would not have been possible to purchase this collection at any price however high. Every distinguished school has contributed to it and the collection from each school has special merits of its own which deserve to be studied carefully. The Educational Exhibition is open only for about a week during the Dasara festival, and teachers pay about two visits to it in large crowds under circumstances which prevent careful study of the exhibits. After the exhibition was closed last year the exhibits were packed in boxes and stored in the Sheshadri Memorial Hall. I am very much afraid that they will deteriorate rapidly and be injured by insects if they remain for years packed in dealwood boxes, although they have been packed carefully and naphthaline balls have been put into each box. It seems to me imperatively necessary that the beautiful collection of exhibits presented by the Board of Education should form a permanent Educational Museum and be open to the inspection of teachers and the public at all times. The exhibits should be spread out and shown in carefully devised cases in such a way that with the help of a descriptive catalogue and the occasional help of the clerk in charge, they can be easily studied. The establishment of a permanent Educational Museum with these and other exhibits which may be collected hereafter will not only be of the highest value and interest to the teachers of Mysore but also show to the donors that their generous gifts have been duly appreciated by the Government of His Highness.

3. I propose that the Educational Museum may be accommodated at Bangalore in the two large side rooms of the Sheshadri Iyer Memorial Hall now rented by the Bangalore Club. These rooms were originally intended for a Public Library, but as there does not seem to be any near prospect of forming such a library, an Educational Museum might very appropriately occupy the rooms. If the Committee of the Sheshadri Iyer Memorial Fund is asked to place the required accommodation at the disposal of the department, probably it will consent considering that Government have contributed the large sum of Rs. 25,000, to the cost of the Memorial Hall. But, if the Committee should demand the same rent of Rs. 50 for the use of the rooms, which the Club now pays, I would recommend that the rent may be sanctioned. The Committee has not been able to complete the Memorial Hall for want of funds and on that ground would be justified in asking for the rent.

4. Substantial show cases which will have to be constructed to suit the rooms are likely to cost not less than Rs. 5,000. They must be large enough to hold all the exhibits and display them to advantage. The Board of Education sent out the exhibits in 24 large cases, of which one was so large that it could be conveyed only by a goods train, and was received too late for the last exhibition. This case has not yet been opened. I request that a sum of Rs. 5,000 may be provided for show cases of the Educational Museum in the next budget.

5. A clerk or curator of sufficiently high education to explain the nature of the exhibits and take proper care of them will be required. His pay should not be fixed lower than Rs. 30 a month. In addition three peons will be required one on Rs. 8 and two on Rs. 7 each. Two peons will have to be in attendance in the two rooms which are separated from each other by the Central Hall and smaller rooms, and to sleep at night, the third peon being wanted to relieve by turns the other two.

6. If a permanent Educational Museum is formed, the annually recurring cost of the educational exhibition will be very greatly reduced. The first exhibition of 1907 in Mysore cost Rs. 654. The second exhibition of 1908 cost a sum of Rs 2,088, which includes ocean freight and railway charges in India of the English exhibits amounting to Rs. 1,022, and the packing, conveyance and other charges incurred by the Board of Education in England amounting to Rs. 781. In addition to these charges the travelling allowances given to teachers for visiting the educational exhibition amounted in both years to large sums. They amounted to about Rs. 6,000 in 1908. The exhibition altogether cost a large amount and the time allowed for studying the exhibits is so short that the teachers are not able to derive as much benefit as they would if they visited a permanent Museum.

7. The recurring cost of the educational exhibitions exclusive of travelling allowances is met from the provision for furniture and apparatus. Government are not pleased to sanction a special provision for the educational exhibition as they do for the Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition. During the last two years the attendance in schools has risen rapidly on account of the abolition of fees, and schools have suffered for want of sufficient furniture. It is hard that the small provision for furniture and apparatus should year after year be diminished by the cost of the exhibition.

8. I therefore recommend that when an Educational Museum of all the exhibits from British Schools is permanently established, the annual educational exhibition of exhibits from Mysore Schools may be held in connection with it at the time of the year when all the schools are closed. The Christmas vacation is the most convenient time for the exhibition. During the Christmas holidays all railway companies give the concession of double journeys for a single second or first class fare. This concession would greatly reduce the travelling allowances of teachers visiting the exhibition.

9. The financial proposals of this letter may be summed up thus:—

	Rs.
House rent for an Educational Museum ...	50
A clerk or curator on	30
A peon on	8
Two peons on Rs. 7 each	14

1. Letter No. 3033, dated the 8th May 1909, from the Secretary, Mysore State Life Insurance Committee, reporting that the date of birth of Mohamed Sibgatulla, Assistant Master, Government Hindustani School, Hassan, is 10th April 1881 as accepted by the Insurance office on the strength of referees' statements, while it is reported to be 15th March 1880 as per entry in his Service Register and that as required by Rule 5A of the Insurance Rules, the Policy has been issued provisionally pending the decision of Government on the question of the discrepancy in the date of birth.

The latter date, viz., 15th March 1880, will be taken as the correct date of birth of the master referred to and the necessary alterations will be made in the Insurance Policy provisionally issued to him.

1. Government Order No. 8927-40—Edn. 201-06-2, dated the 27th March 1907, directing the reversion of the Sericultural Inspectors to their work as school-masters and sanctioning an allowance of Rs. 10 per mensem to each of them for teaching sericulture to silk worm rearers out of the regular school hours.

2. Letter No. 11999, dated the 21st May 1909, from the Revenue Commissioner in Mysore, reporting that the seven Sericultural Inspectors reverted to the Education Department in accordance with the Order read above were employed in the districts of Bangalore, Kolar, Tumkur and Mysore and that these men are reported to have been teaching sericulture to the boys of the schools in which they are employed, that no practical good has resulted therefrom and recommending that the system of giving instruction in sericulture by school-masters out of regular school hours be done away with from the 1st July 1909 and that the allowance to these masters be stopped also from that date.

No. 2618-20—EDN. 451-08-3, DATED BANGALORE, 15TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—The Inspector-General of Education, who was consulted in the matter, is of opinion that the training given to the eight village school-masters in Mr. Tata's Farm may be utilized for the purpose of teaching sericulture on a small scale in their schools to the boys of the IV and V Kannada classes. This instruction is proposed to be both theoretical and practical and to be of the class of nature-study. The cost is estimated to be as shown below:—

	Per mensem Rs.
Allowance to the 8 teachers at Rs. 10 a month ...	80
Contingent allowance for each teacher at Rs. 2 per mensem ...	16
Total ...	96 or 1,152 per annum

2. The Inspector-General also states that a few mulberry plants at the back of the school, a few worms reared in a school room and a native reeling machine like the Bengal reeling machine on a small scale will be required in connection with the instruction proposed to be imparted.

3. Government consider that the Inspector-General's scheme is well worth a trial and they are accordingly pleased to sanction it tentatively for a year, at the end of which a detailed report should be submitted about the results. Under this scheme the Sericultural Inspector at Kolar also will revert to his place in the Education Department. These school-masters should be posted to work in places where mulberry is usually grown and rearing of silk worms actually practised.

1. Petition from the people of Hassan praying that the Aided "Vani Vilasa Girls' School" at that place may be taken under Government management.

2. Correspondence ending with the following letter No. 10607—696, dated 20th May 1909, from the Inspector-General of Education in Mysore :—

"With reference to your office memorandum No. 9122—Edn. 311-08-2, dated 19th March 1908, forwarding for report a petition received from the inhabitants of Hassan praying that the National Girls' School at Hassan may be taken under Government management, I have the honor to inform you that the National Girls' School, which is now called Vani Vilasa Girls' School, was started three years ago by the leading inhabitants of Hassan with the object of imparting secular and moral instruction based on Hindu religious principles to the Hindu girls of Hassan. The school is of the Middle standard and has been successfully maintained till now from subscriptions and grants-in-aid. Mr. H. R. Srinivasa Rao, retired Amildar, who is the Honorary Secretary of the Committee of Management, takes the most active part in the management of the school. The people appear to have spent already about Rs. 12,000 on the school as stated in the petition sent with the Secretary's Memorandum. The cost of the school was entirely met out of the subscriptions liberally paid by the people till the 1st July 1908, when Government were pleased to sanction a monthly grant of Rs. 50 in aid of the school. The school is also in receipt of an annual grant of Rs. 250 paid by the Municipality of Hassan. A new building has been constructed for the school at a total cost of about Rs. 6,700 of which Rs. 6,000 was contributed by the people and Rs. 700 generously subscribed by His Highness the Maharaja.

(2) The people as well as the Managing Committee now represent that on account of bad seasonal conditions and other adverse circumstances they are no longer able to continue their subscriptions towards the cost of the school, and as the Government and the Municipal grants by themselves cannot meet the entire cost of the school, they pray that the school may be kindly taken under Government management. They are willing to hand over the new building and the balance in hand to Government. As there is no Government Girls' School at present in Hassan as in other district headquarters and as the Vani Vilasa Girls' School really meets a desired want, I recommend that the prayer of the people and the Managing Committee may be kindly sanctioned by Government with effect from 1st July 1909, and the enclosed scale of establishment which has been based on the existing scale sanctioned for the school. The enclosure under reference is herewith returned. If the Municipal grant is to be continued, the net cost to Government will be Rs. 812 a year."

No. 2677-8—Edn. 311-08-4, dated Bangalore, 16th September 1909.

Order thereon.—The annual cost of the school is stated to be Rs. 1,062 of which Rs. 600 is met from the State grant, Rs. 250 from the Municipal grant and the balance of Rs. 212 from private subscriptions. The inhabitants of Hassan state that private subscriptions are of late running short and pray that the school may be taken under Government management. The Inspector-General of Education supports their request. In these circumstances Government are pleased to direct that the management of the school be taken over by the Municipality of Hassan together with the building erected by private subscription and the balance at the credit of the school.

2. The scale of establishment proposed by the Inspector-General of Education is also sanctioned at a total cost of Rs. 1,062 per annum, as per details given in the letter read above. Of this amount, a sum of Rs. 812 will be paid from the State Funds to the Municipality, the balance, which is equal to the Municipal grant hitherto made, being met from Municipal Funds.

3. The extra cost of Rs. 212 per annum to the State Funds over and above the present grant of Rs. 600 will be met from the provision made for the purpose in the Education State Fund Budget for 1909-10.

Report on the working of the Bangalore Central Press, the Mysore Gazette Office, the Branch Press at Mysore, and the Office of the Registrar of Authorized Publications in Mysore, for the year 1908-09, received with letter No. 150, dated 13th August 1909, from the Superintendent of the Government Press.

No. G. 2003—G. P. 9-09-3, DATED BANGALORE, 27TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—Government note that the installation of electric motors and the addition of two new book-binding machines have facilitated the speedy out-turn of work in the Press and reduced the cost.

2. Composing work was much less than during the previous year, the decrease being chiefly due to the more economical method of compiling and setting the Monthly Proceedings volumes, to the retention of recurring work as standing matter and to the greater use of stereoplates.

3. There was an appreciable increase in the out-turn of work in the printing, binding and type-founding departments of the Press.

4. Government note the need for increased accommodation for the Press, and the question will engage their attention at an early date.

5. The efficient and economical management of the Press reflects much credit on Mr. Yates, the Superintendent, and his responsible subordinates.

M. 174-07-4, dated the 24th January 1908, for the sale of Kannada copies of important orders of Government and other official papers be tried until the end of the official year 1908-09 and calling for a report of the sales up to that date.

2. Letter No. 1170-86, dated the 29th July 1909, from the Inspector-General of Education in Mysore, submitting as required in the above, a report regarding the sale of copies of Government Orders at the Government Central Book Depot during the year 1908-09.

No. G. 1313-52—G. M. 208-08-11, DATED BANGALORE, 1ST SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER THEREON.—The report submitted by the Inspector-General shows that the facilities afforded to the public for making themselves acquainted with the rulings and important orders of Government have not been appreciated to an extent that calls for the continuance of the existing arrangement. It is therefore directed that the practice of offering for sale Kannada copies of Government Orders be discontinued in future.

2. Important orders will be translated into Kannada and published in the Kannada edition of the Government Gazette and in the Revenue and Agricultural Gazette also, at the discretion of the Revenue Commissioner, as already intimated in Government Proceedings No. G. 5160-2—G. M. 208-08-9, dated the 12th March 1909.

3. As regards the sale of English copies of Government Orders, Government direct that only half a dozen copies of such of the Orders of Government as are placed at the disposal of the Press be hereafter sent to the Government Central Book Depot for sale and that unsold copies be returned to the Secretariat concerned once in every six months.

4. The present unsold stock in the Book Depot will be returned to the Secretariat as directed above, half a dozen copies of each Proceedings being kept at the Depot to meet any possible demand.

No. G. 1963-74—G. M. 137-09-1, DATED BANGALORE, 24TH SEPTEMBER 1909.

ORDER.—Government observe that the Mysore Gazette is now encumbered with much matter the publication of which serves no purpose commensurate with the labour and expenditure involved. The following are now being published in the Gazette :—

(1) Resolutions of District Boards.
(2) Accounts of District Boards.
(3) Resolutions and accounts of the Sanitary Board, Kolar Gold Fields.
(4) Resolutions of Municipal Councils of Bangalore and Mysore Cities.
(5) Accounts of ditto ditto
(6) Memoranda of business to be transacted at meetings of Bangalore and Mysore Cities.

2. Resolutions of District Boards.—Section 16 of the Mysore Local Boards Regulation provides that Government may direct the publication in the official Gazette of any resolution passed by a District Board. The present practice, however, is to publish in extenso all resolutions of District Boards including tabular statements of accounts and statistics. Government consider it sufficient if only the resolutions proper are published omitting all tabular statements of account and statistical information that are now printed as part of the resolutions published.

3. Accounts of District Boards.—Section 25 of the Mysore Local Boards Regulation requires the publication annually in the official Gazette, in English and in Kanarese, of an abstract, in the form prescribed by Government, of the account of a District Board showing the income of the District Fund under each head of receipts, the charges for establishment, the works undertaken, the sums expended on each work, and the balance of the fund remaining unspent. But the annual accounts as now published are in very great detail and extend to several pages of tabular statements. Government consider it sufficient to publish in future only an abstract of annual accounts showing the opening and closing balances and the revenue and expenditure under major heads, omitting minor and detailed heads. A list of works undertaken and of the amounts spent on them, should, as required by the said section, be published, giving details for the aggregate expenditure shown under the major head of Public Works in the abstract account.

4. The observations in paras 2 and 3 above will also apply to the resolutions and accounts of the Sanitary Board, Kolar Gold Fields.

5. Resolutions of Municipal Councils of Bangalore and Mysore.—The Municipal Regulation (1906) does not require the publication of these resolutions in the official Gazette. The present practice of publishing all the resolutions in extenso including the tabular statements of accounts and statistics should be discontinued and the printing should be confined, as in the case of the resolutions of District Boards referred to in para 2 supra, to only the proceedings and resolutions, omitting all tabular statements of accounts and statistics.

6. Accounts of Municipal Councils of Bangalore and Mysore.—Under Section 171 of the Municipal Regulation of 1906, Municipal Councils are required to transmit annual accounts to Government. It is sufficient if an abstract of these accounts showing the opening and closing balances and the revenue and expenditure by major heads, omitting minor and detailed heads, is published.

7. Memoranda of business to be transacted at meetings of the Municipal Councils of Bangalore and Mysore need not be published in the Gazette.

No. 756-66—Muz. 128-09-1, dated Bangalore, 13th September 1909.

Order.—It has been under contemplation, for some time past, to draw up an exhaustive list of important Matts which are entitled by their status to the privilege of the grant of the first day's Bhiksha from Government on the occasion of their visits to Bangalore. The Muzrai Superintendent has prepared and submitted such a list noting the amount which may be granted in each case. The Government of His Highness the Maharaja observe that the list submitted by the Muzrai Superintendent and appended to this Order has been carefully and judiciously prepared and are therefore pleased to approve and sanction the same.

2. It is considered unnecessary to include the Sri Parakalaswami Matt in this list as the Swamigalu of that Matt does not usually go out on any tours beyond Melkote. The honor due to the Swamigalu of this Matt in this respect will be settled whenever he has occasion to visit the City of Bangalore in course of any projected tour.

BEFORE THE GOVERNMENT OF HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJA OF MYSORE.

Appellant	Vs.	Defendants
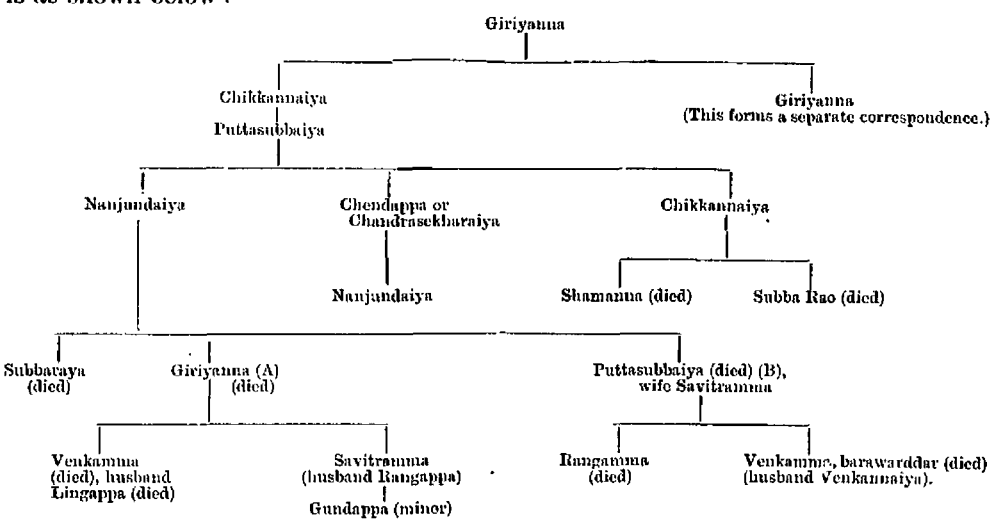
Nanjundaiya		1. Venkannaiya 2. Gundappa, minor, through his mother and guardian Savitramma.

Subject.

Appealing against the order of the Deputy Commissioner, Mysore District, recognizing the hak of each of the respondents to three months' share of Sannidhi paricharike of the Sri Srikanteswaraswami temple at Nanjangud.

Facts of the case.

The relationship of the appellant and the respondents to the original hakdar is as shown below :—



Nanjundaiya, appellant, and his cousins Giriyanna (A) and Puttasubbaiya (B) were joint barawarddars of the Sannidhi paricharike post, Nanjundaiya enjoying the office for six months and the other two brothers enjoying it for three months each. Giriyanna transferred his three months' share to his son-in-law Lingappa under a will ; and the latter and his wife having died, the office has been conferred on the minor son of Giriyanna's second daughter Savitramma, named Gundappa (2nd respondent before Government). Puttasubbaiya also having died, his baraward was transferred to his wife Savitramma, and at her request it was made out in the name of her daughter Venkamma. Venkamma having died, the office has been conferred on Venkamma's husband Venkannaiya, 1st respondent. Nanjundaiya has appealed to Government claiming the offices held by Giriyanna and Puttasubbaiya.

Decision.

The contending parties were heard before Government.

2. As regards Giriyanna's three months' share, whether the last male holder be Giriyanna or Lingappa, the appellant has no right as he is not an heir of Lingappa and as Giriyanna's daughter's son is a nearer heir to Giriyanna than appellant. The appellant's prayer so far as it relates to Giriyanna's three months' share is rejected.

3. After the death of Puttasubbaiya's daughter, the appellant Nanjundaiya, being the nearest agnate, becomes his heir. The 1st respondent, who is only his daughter's husband, can have no right of inheritance. Government therefore set aside that portion of the Deputy Commissioner's order which directs that Puttasubbaiya's three months' share be given to the latter. This share of the office will, therefore, be registered in the appellant's name.

Muzrai, dated 14th September 1909.

No. 803—Muz. 477-08-4, dated Bangalore, 14th September 1909.

Copy of the above is forwarded to the Deputy Commissioner, Mysore District, together with the vernacular records received with his letter No. 503, dated 1st July 1909.

Proceedings of the Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore, Muzrai, dated 29th September 1909.

READ—

Letter No. 7, dated 19th August 1909, from the Deputy Commissioner, Bangalore District, submitting copy of the following letter No. 44, dated 3rd August 1909, from the Assistant Commissioner, Closepet Sub-Division, regarding the voluntary contribution proposed to be made annually by the silk and jute merchants of Closepet for the benefit of the masjid and Sri Ramadevaru temple at the place:—

"I have the honor to submit herewith a copy of the proceedings of a meeting of the principal citizens of Closepet held at Closepet on 1st August 1909.

2. There has been for many years a practice among the silk merchants of Closepet to collect two annas per maund of silk and one anna per maund of jute and utilize the amount so collected for charitable purposes.

3. One half of the amount collected was being utilized for the mosque, and the other half, there was no proper person to take care of.

4. The arrangement now entered into by all parties is that this other half should hereafter be paid to the shanbhog of the Ramadevaru temple monthly and be credited by him towards his pay to the funds of the temple.

5. The qualification "towards his pay" is introduced, as orthodox Musalmans may have otherwise objection to support a Hindu temple.

6. The Hindus and Musalmans of Closepet join in this voluntary transaction, as silk producers are both Hindus and Mahomedans.

7. This report is submitted for information.

8. The income expected from this source to the temple funds is between 50 and 100 rupees per year."

No. 933-4—Muz. 149-09-2, dated Bangalore, 29th September 1909.

Order thereon.—Recorded.

2. The interest taken by the silk and jute merchants of Closepet in the welfare of the Muzrai institutions in question is commendable.

K. S. CHANDRASEKHARA AIYAR,
Secy. to Govt., Gen. & Rev. Depts.

To—The Deputy Commissioner, Bangalore District.

2	Fl 1483-4—B 3-09-4 ...	4	Comptr. and Dy. Comr., Mysore	Observing that the working of the Agricultural Bank at Kyatanahalli in the French Rocks Sub-Taluk as disclosed by the inspection report of the Assistant Commissioner is fairly satisfactory, that the bank should endeavour to attract deposits as its scope for usefulness depends, especially after the withdrawal of the Government loan, on its ability to raise the funds required for its operations by taking loans and deposits, that so far beyond attracting an insignificant deposit of less than Rs. 100, the bank has not exerted itself in this direction, that it is regretted that there are some defaulters among the office bearers and that steps should be taken to recover the amounts due by them and if they are persistent defaulters to get them replaced by others.
